APPENDIX III

Concordance List between Catalogue, Drawing and Inventory numbers

Catalogue numbers are used in the thesis to identify the vessels. Inventory numbers were given to the vessels by their discoverer and are written on the vessels themselves.

The Catalogue numbers are listed in rising order according to their first three figures (or, respectively, five or more figures).

APPENDIX IV

List of Graves and principal Grave-contents

Appendix IV deals with the contexts of thin walled and coarse pottery and is related to Chapter 3.

The sites are listed in alphabetical order. Thin walled and coarse vessels, divided into open and closed forms, are listed with the associated datable grave-goods and a date for the graves is suggested and discussed. The indicated numbers are museum inventory numbers. In absence of a museum inventory number, the thesis catalogue number is given in brackets.

All items without a known context are also listed, according to their provenance.

Ascona

Grave S1: inhumation - c. AD 70-120, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Dragendorff Form 37: Flavian period to first half of the 2nd century AD
- Dishes (2), Conspectus Form 3: before mid-1st to second half of 1st century AD, rare later

2. Glass:

- Cup, Isings Form 42a: second half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar 11.53.73

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 80-130 (Donati 1987, 82).

The probable date of sigillata and glass in this grave is the Flavian period.

Therefore, the suggested date of the grave is c. AD 70-120.

Grave S2: inhumation - c. AD 80-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 34: late Tiberian to Flavian period, rare later
- Cup, Conspectus Form 4.2/36: Tiberian period, rare until end of 1st century AD
- Cup, Conspectus Form 49: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd

century AD

2. Glass:

- Bottles (2), Isings Form 50: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coins:

- Sestertius of Galba, Rome: AD 68-69
- As of Vespasian, Rome: AD 74
- Dupondius of Vespasian, Lugdunum: AD 77-78

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 58919.4
- Beaker, 58919.6
- Bowl, 58919.7

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 58919.5

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 80-130 (Donati 1987, 84).

Most of the datable grave-goods belong to the second half of the 1st century AD. In particular, there is given a terminus post quem at AD 77-78 (Dupondius of Vespasian). The presence of three coins issued c. AD 68/69-77/78 argues for a date of deposition shortly after the later coin. The present writer would therefore agree with a date of the grave in the period c. AD 80-130, or even prefer c. AD 80-100.

Grave S3: inhumation - c. AD 70-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period

2. Glass:

- Cup, Isings Form 3: first half of 1st century AD
- Flagon, Isings Form 14: first half of 1st century AD
- Amphora, Isings Form 15: first half of 1st century AD
- Beaker, Isings Form 31: second half of 1st century AD
- Cups (2), Isings Form 42a: second half of 1st century AD
- Dish, Isings Form 46a: second half of 1st century AD
- Bottle, Isings Form 50a: second half of 1st century AD
- Flagon, Isings Form 55a: second half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 58920.2
- Bowl, 58920.3

The suggested date for the Grave in the literature is AD 70-120 (Donati 1987, 86).

The latest datable material belongs to the second half of the 1st century AD. The fact that some grave-goods still belong to the first half of the same century allows one to agree with a dating for the grave from Flavian times, c. AD 70-120 or suggest c. AD 70-100.

Grave S4: inhumation - c. AD 70-120, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period

2. Glass:

- Amphora, Isings Form 15: first half of 1st century AD
- Flagon, Isings Form 55a: second half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Thin walled cup, 58921.5

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 58921.4

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 70-120 (Donati 1987, 90).

According to the datable grave-goods, and for the reasons as above (Grave S3), the present writer agrees with a date for the grave in the period c. AD 70-120.

Grave S5: inhumation - c. AD 80-130, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 34: late Tiberian to Flavian period, rare later
- Cup, Conspectus Form 4.2/36: Tiberian period

2. Glass:

- Flagon, Isings Form 14: first half of 1st century AD

3. Coins:

- As of Titus, Rome : AD 80

- As (?) of Hadrian (?) : AD 117-138

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 58922.3

- Jar, 58922.5

- Lid (?), 58922.6

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 58922.4

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 100-150 (Donati 1987, 92).

The latest material in the grave is generally dated AD 117-138 (As of Hadrian). Most of the material, however, is earlier. Sigillata and glass belong to c. AD 25-75 and the presence of an As of Titus (AD 80) allows one to suppose a date for the group as c. AD 80-130. The presence of the later coin of Hadrian is not clear. In the literature there is no mention of the possibility of being intrusive. On the other hand, the proposed dating of the Grave seems to consider this fact. Failing of further information, and considering that the coin is very worn and the attribution to Hadrian not certain, I prefer not to consider it as datable element. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 80-130/50.

Grave S6: inhumation - c. AD 70-120, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period

- Cup, Conspectus Form 4.2/36: Tiberian period
- Dish, Conspectus Form 20: mid-1st century AD

2. Glass

- Balsamarium, Isings Form 10: first half of 1st century AD
- Bottle, Isings Form 14: first half of 1st century AD
- Rod, Isings Form 79: second half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Thin walled cup or beaker, 58923.6

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 70-120 (Donati 1987, 94).

The latest material can be attributed to Flavian times. The fact the most of the grave-goods in this group belong in the period c. AD 15-70 argues for a date of the Grave as c. AD 70-120.

Grave S7: inhumation (?)

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

Grave S8: inhumation - c. AD 50-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period

2. Glass

- Flagon, Isings Form 13: first half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup or beaker, 58925.3
- Fragment, 58925.2

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 70-120 (Donati 1987, 96).

The probable date of sigillata and glass is Tiberian-Flavian times. Therefore, the date of deposition is likely to be c. AD 50-100.

Grave S9: inhumation

No grave-goods.

Grave S10: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Bowl, 58926.1
- Fragment, 58926.3
- Fragment (bowl or jar ?), 58926.2

Grave S10 did not contain any datable grave-good. It laid partly under Grave S11 and therefore must be earlier. It may be generally dated to the 1st century AD. The proposed dating in the literature is the 1st century AD (Donati 1987, 96).

Grave S11: inhumation - c. AD 96-110, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period
- Dish, Conspectus Form 20: mid-1st century AD
- Dish, Conspectus Form 3: before mid-1st to second half of 1st century AD, rare later

2. Coins:

- Dupondius of Vespasian, Lyons: AD 77-78
- As of Domitian, Rome: AD 84
- As of Domitian, Rome : AD 85
- Sestertius of Domitian, Rome : AD 90-91
- As of Nerva, Rome: AD 96-97

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 58927.4
- Jar, 58925.6

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 58927.5

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 100-150 (Donati 1987, 98).

The probable date of the pottery in this group is c. AD 45-95. The latest coin gives a terminus post quem at AD 96-97 (As of Nerva). The fact that the five coins of the Grave range from AD 77/78 to AD 96/97 allows one to suppose the date of deposition short after the latest coin. The present writer would therefore prefer a date for the grave in the period c. AD 96-110. According to the stratigraphy, Grave S11 is later than Grave S10.

Grave S12: inhumation - c. AD 100-120, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 4.2/36: Tiberian period, rare until end of 1st century AD
- Cup, Conspectus Form 49: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD
- Dish, Conspectus Form 47: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

2. Coins:

- As (?) of Vespasian: AD 69-79
- As of Domitian: AD 81-96
- As (?) of Trajan, Rome: AD 98-100

Coarse/thin walled pottery

1. Open forms:

- Beaker, 58928.4
- Bowl, 58927.5
- Fragments, 58922

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 120-170 (Donati 1987, 100).

The probable date of the pottery in this group is c. AD 50-100. The presence of three coins ranging from AD 69 to AD 98/100 allows one to suppose the date of deposition shortly after AD 98-100 (As of Trajan). The suggested date of this grave is therefore c. AD 100-150, or even c. AD 100-120.

Grave S13: inhumation - c. AD 100-150, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- As of Caligula for Germanicus, Rome : AD 37-41
- Denarius of Domitian, Rome : AD 92
- Asses (2) of Trajan : AD 98-117

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 58929.1
- Jar, 58929.2
- Bowl, 58929.3

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 120-170 (Donati 1987, 102).

The datable material of this grave consists of four coins. The As of Caligula for Germanicus does not bring any datable evidence for the grave. The other three coins belong to the periods AD 92 and AD 98-117. The fact that the Asses of Trajan are worn and are datable only generally suggests a terminus post quem reaching AD 117. The proposed date of the grave is therefore c. AD 100-150.

Grave S14: inhumation - c. AD 114-150, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 34: late Tiberian to Flavian period, rare later
- Cup, Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period
- Dish, Conspectus Form 4.2/36: Tiberian period, rare until end 1st century AD
- Dish, Conspectus Form 3: before mid-1st to second half of 1st century AD, rare later

2. Glass:

- Balsamaria (2), Isings Form 28 b: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coins:

- As of Vespasian, Rome : AD 72
- As of Titus : 79-81 AD (the coin is now lost)
- AS of Trajan, Rome : AD 114-117

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 58930.5
- Cup, 58930.7
- Jar, 58930.8

2. Closed form:

- Flagon: given by Spillmann to Mr. Telchow (Ascona), now missing

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 120-170 (Donati 1987, 106).

The latest material can be attributed to AD 114-117 (As of Trajan). The probable date of sigillata and glass in this group is c. AD 35-95. Two coins dated to AD 72 (As of Vespasian) and generally AD 79-81 (As of Titus, now lost) support a dating in the last quarter of the 1st century AD. The fact that most of the datable material in this grave is at least 30 years earlier than the latest coin argues for the material being used collectively as one group and highlights the life-expectancy of datable grave-goods. The literature does not provide any element to understand if the coin of Trajan is intrusive. The present writer would therefore prefer a date for the grave in the period c. AD 114-150.

Grave S15: inhumation - c. AD 200-250, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- Denarius of Coelius Caldus, Rome: 51 BC
- As (?) of Vespasian: AD 69-79
- As (?) of Commodus: AD 180-192

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Dish, 58931.1, associated to lid 58931.2
- Lid, 58931.2, associated to dish 58931.1
- Bowl, 58931.3
- Fragments

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 200-250 (Donati 1987, 108).

The only datable grave-goods of Grave S15 are three coins. Since in the literature there is no mention of possible intrusive coins, the Republican Denarius and the As of Vespasian do not provide any evidence of dating for the deposition. The latest coin is dated to AD 180-192 (As of Commodus). Therefore one may agree with a date in the period c. AD 200-250. This date, however, needs further consideration according to the coarse pottery of the grave. The chronological gap between the three coins amounts to over hundred years. In this case, a life-expectancy of 50 years for the later coin might need an extension.

According to the stratigraphy, Grave S15 is later than Grave S16.

Grave S16: inhumation - c. AD 30-70, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 4.2/36: Tiberian period, rare until end 1st century AD
- Cup, Conspectus Form 27: Tiberian to Neronian period

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Thin walled cup, 58932.3

2. Closed forms:

- Flagon, 58932.4
- Fragments

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 30-70 (Donati 1987, 110).

The date of sigillata in this grave is in Tiberio-Neronian times. The present writer would therefore agree with a date in the period c. AD 30-70. According to the stratigraphy, Grave S16 is earlier than Grave S15.

Grave S17: inhumation - c. AD 138-160, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 4.2/36: Tiberian period, rare until end 1st century AD
- Cups (3), Conspectus Forme 29: Tiberian to Flavian period
- Cups (2), Conspectus Form 34: late Tiberian to Flavian period, rare later
- Dish, Conspectus Form 4: Tiberian to Claudian period

2. Glass:

- Beaker, Isings Form 30: second half of 1st century AD
- Bottle, Isings Form 50a: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coins:

- As (?) of Faustina I : 138-141 AD
- Copper alloy coin (As)

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar, 58933.9

2. Closed forms:

- Flagon, 58933.10
- Fragments
- Fragments

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 140-180 (Donati 1987, 116).

The probable date of sigillata and glass is in Flavian times. A further terminus post quem, however, is provided for AD 138-141 (As of Faustina I). According to the literature, this coin seems not to be intrusive. The fact the most of the grave-goods are earlier argues for the material being used collectively as one group. The present writer would therefore prefer a date for the grave in the period c. AD 138-160.

Grave S18: inhumation - c. AD 50-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 27: Tiberian to Neronian period
- Dish, Conspectus Form 3: before mid-1st to second half of 1st century AD, rare later

2. Glass:

- Balsamarium, Isings Form 6: first half of 1st century AD

3. Coins:

- As of Tiberius for Augustus, Rome: AD 22/23 (?) - 30

4. Brooches:

- Aucissa-brooch, Ettlinger Type 29: 25 BC-AD 50

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 58934.3
- Thin walled beaker, 58934.4

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 58934.5

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 30-70 (Donati 1987, 118).

A terminus post quem at AD 30 is suggested by the As of Tiberius for Augustus. The probable date of sigillata and glass is within mid-1st century AD. Therefore, the suggested date of the grave is c. AD 50-100.

Grave S19: According to the information the grave has not been investigated.

Grave S20: the type of rite is not clearly definible

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 58935.2

- Bowl, 58935.1

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is the 3rd century AD (Donati 1987, 120). No reason for this dating is given.

Grave S21: inhumation - c. AD 98/99-150, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 37: Tiberian period to mid-1st century AD, rare later

- Dish, Conspectus Form 3: before mid-1st to second half of 1st century AD, rare later

2. Coin:

- As of Trajan, Rome: AD 98-99

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 100-150 (Donati 1987, 120).

The pottery in this group belongs to c. AD 40-90. The latest material can be attributed to AD 98-99 (As of Trajan). The suggested date is therefore c. AD 98/99-150.

Grave S22: cremation - c. AD 50-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 20: mid-1st century AD (Claudian- Flavian)

2. Glass:

- Balsamarium, Isings Form 6: first half of 1st century AD
- Balsamarium, Isings Form 8: first half of 1st century AD

3. Coin:

- Bronze coin

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Fragments (bowl or jar ?), 58937

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 58937.3

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 50-100 (Donati 1987, 122).

The latest material can be attributed to Claudian-Flavian times, whereas other grave-goods belong more generally to the first half of the 1st century AD. Therefore, the writer agrees with a date in the period c. AD 50-100.

Grave S23: inhumation - c. AD 80-130, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 47: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

2. Coin:

- As (?) of Vespasian: AD 69-79

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Beaker, 58938.2
- Bowl, 58938.4

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 58939.3

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 100-150 (Donati 1987, 124).

The terminus post quem at AD 69-79 (As of Vespasian) matches up with the probable date of the pottery. A suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 80-130, or slightly later.

Grave 1: inhumation - c. AD 80-130, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (2), Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period
- Cup, Conspectus Form 45: Flavian to first half of 2nd century AD

2. Coin:

- Sestertius of Titus, Rome: AD 80-81

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 11.56.172
- Jar or bowl?, 11.56.173

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 11.56.171

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 80-130 (Donati 1987, 128).

The pottery in this group dates probably to Flavian times. According to a further terminus post quem at 80-81 AD (Sestertius of Titus), the present writer agrees with a date in the period c. AD 80-130.

Grave 2: inhumation - c. AD 100-150, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 4.2/36: Tiberian period, rare until end 1st century AD
- Cup, Conspectus Form 34: late Tiberian to Flavian period, rare later
- Cup, Conspectus Form 36: Tiberian period, rare until end 1st century AD

2. Coin:

- As of Nerva, Rome: AD 97

Coarse/thin walled pottery

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 11.56.186
- Bowl, 11.56. 185

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 11.56.184

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 100-150 (Donati 1987, 130).

The probable date of the pottery belongs to c. AD 30-90. The latest material can be attributed to AD 97 (As of Nerva). The present writer agrees therefore with a date for the grave in the period c. AD 100-150.

Grave 3: cremation - c. AD 70-120/130, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (2), Conspectus Form 45: Flavian period to first half of 2nd century AD
- Cup, Conspectus Form 34: Late Tiberian until Flavian frequent, rare later
- Dishes (2), Conspectus Form 41: Flavian period to first half of 2nd century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 11.56.199

- Bowl, 11.56.198

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 11.56.197

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 100-150 (Donati 1987, 132).

The date of the pottery in this group is from Flavian times to the first half of the 2nd century AD. Only one sigillata cup is slightly earlier, but its dating still matches up with the other grave-goods. The present writer would therefore prefer a date for the grave in the period c. AD 70-120/130.

Grave 4: inhumation, destroyed "ab antiquo"

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

Grave 5: inhumation - c. AD 40-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 3: before mid-1st to second half of 1st century AD, rare later

Coarse/thin walled pottery

1. Open form:

- Jar, 11.56.209

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 50-150 (Donati 1987, 134).

The only datable grave-good belongs to c. AD 40-100. The date of deposition is likely to be in this period or slightly later.

Grave 6: inhumation

Datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Fragment of foot-ring. According to Donati (1987, 134), it belongs to a vessel Dragendorff's Form 35/36 (Conspectus Form 39-40 and 43-44), ranging from the second half of the 1st to the first half of the 2nd century AD.

- Fragment of foot-ring. Form unknown

2. Coin:

- Fragment of silver coin

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Bowl, 11.56.214

- Fragments, 11.56.215

The proposed date in the literature, according to the sigillata fragment, is c. AD 50-150 (Donati 1987, 134). The present writer does not consider the datable material enough to provide any dating evidence.

Grave 7: inhumation - c. AD 70-120/130, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 43: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD
- Dish, Conspectus Form 39: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery

1. Open form:

- Jar, 11.56.222

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 11.56.221

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 50-100 (Donati 1987, 136).

The date of the pottery in this group is c. AD 50-150. The likely date of deposition is therefore in the same period or slightly later, c. 70-120/130.

Grave 8: inhumation - c. AD 81-130, based on the following datable items:

1. Glass:

- Balsamarium, Isings Form 28b: second half of 1st century AD

2. Coin:

- As (?) of Domitian (?): AD 81-96

Coarse/thin walled pottery

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 11.56.230

- Jar, 11.56.234

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 11.56.233

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 100-150 (Donati 1987, 138).

According to the datable grave-goods, with a terminus post quem at AD 81-96 (As of Domitian), the date of deposition is likely to be c. AD 81-130.

Grave 9: inhumation - c. AD 112-150, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 34: late Tiberian to Flavian period, rare later

2. Coins:

- Sestertius of Titus for Domitilla, Rome: AD 80-81

- Copper alloy coins (2) of Domitian: AD 81-96

- As of Nerva, Rome: AD 96

- Dupondius of Trajan, Rome: AD 112-114

Coarse/thin walled pottery

1. Open form:

- Bowl, 11.56.242

- Fragments, 11.56.243

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 120-170 (Donati 1987, 140).

The latest material dates to AD 112-114 (Dupondius of Trajan). The fact that most of the datable grave-goods belong to c. AD 80-96 argues for the material being used collectively as one group. The present writer would therefore prefer a date for the grave in the period c. AD 112-150.

Grave 10: inhumation - c. AD 103-150, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 49: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD
- Dish, Conspectus Form 47: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

2. Glass:

- Bottle, Isings Form 50a: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coin:

- Sestertius of Trajan, Rome : AD 103-110

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 11.56.253
- Bowl, 11.56.254
- Fragments, 11.56.255

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 120-170 (Donati 1987, 142).

The probable date of sigillata and glass is c. AD 50-150. A further terminus post quem at AD 103-110 (Sestertius of Trajan) allows one to suppose a date of deposition as c. AD 103-150.

Finds with no contexts:

- Thin walled cup, 11.53.100
- Tankard, 11.53.94
- Bowl (?), 11.56.257
- Jar, 11.56.258
- Dish, 11.56.256

Cavigliano

Cavigliano, property Monotti (1944)

Grave 1: inhumation

No grave-goods.

Grave 2: inhumation - c. AD 98-120, based on the following datable items:

1. Glass:

- Aryballos, Isings Form 61: second half of 1st century AD

2. Coins:

- Copper alloy coins (2) of Trajan (?), AD 98-117

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Cup, 1944.6

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 1944.8

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 98-117 (two copper alloy coins of Trajan), which roughly coincides with the date of the glass aryballos. The suggested date of the Grave is therefore c. AD 98-120.

Grave 3: inhumation

Datable items:

1. Glass:

- Flagon, fragments, Form ?

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 1944.14
- Jar, 1944.15

Grave 4: inhumation - c. AD 50-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 3: mid-1st to second half of 1st century AD

2. Glass:

- Balsamarium, Isings Form 28b: second half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Cup, 1944.22
- Cup, 1944.27 (with graffito A)
- Jar, 1944.23

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 1944.20

The date of both sigillata and glass wares is in the second half of the 1st century AD. Both coarse raised foot-ring cups belongs to a general form attested in Ticino from mid-1st century AD and at Angera slightly later, becoming relevant from the end of the 1st and the beginning of the 2nd century AD (Tomaselli1985, 461ff.). Therefore, the suggested date for the grave is c. AD 50-100.

Grave 5: inhumation - c. AD 79-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period
- Cup, Conspectus Form 46: Flavian period to first half of 2nd century AD
- Cup, Conspectus Form 49: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD
- Dishes (2), Conspectus Form 3: mid-1st to second half of 1st century AD

2. Glass:

- Flagon, Isings Form 52a: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coin:

- Copper alloy coin of Vespasian or Titus: AD 69-79 or AD 79-81

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Cup, 1944.32 (with graffito λικ)
- Jar, 1944.30

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 1944.43

Most of the datable grave-goods belong to the second half of the 1st century AD. In particular, there is given a terminus post quem at AD 69-79 or AD 79-

81 (coin of Vespasian or Titus). The present writer would therefore prefer a date for the grave in the period c. AD 79-100.

Grave 6: inhumation - c. AD 50-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 3: mid-1st to second half of 1st century AD
- Fragments

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Cup, 1944.52
- Jar, 1944.50

The only datable grave-good belongs to the second half of the 1st century AD.

The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 50-100.

Grave 7: inhumation - c. AD 50-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (2), Conspectus Form 43: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD
- Dish, Conspectus Form 3: mid-1st to second half of 1st century AD
- Dish, Conspectus Form 47: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

2. Glass:

- Flagon, Isings Form 50a: second half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Beaker, 1944.53
- Jar, 1944.60
- Bowl, 1944.59

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 1944.62

The datable grave-goods belong to the second half of the 1st century AD. The present writer would therefore suggest a date for the grave in the period c. AD 50-100.

Grave 8: inhumation - c. AD 50-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Glass:

- Flagon, Isings Form 50a: second half of 1st century AD
- Rod, Isings Form 79: second half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

The datable grave-goods belong to the second half of the 1st century AD. The present writer would therefore suggest a date for the grave in the period c. AD 50-100.

Cavigliano, property Cavalli (1957)

Grave 1: inhumation

No grave-goods.

Grave 2: inhumation - c. AD 176-200, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 4.1.1: 40-15 BC

2. Glass:

- Flagon, Isings Form 82a: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coins:

- Copper alloy coins (2) of Trajan (?): AD 98-117

- Dupondius of Hadrian, Rome: AD 125-128

- Sesterius of Antoninus Pius, Rome: AD 140-144

- Sestertius of Faustina II, Rome: AD 176-180

- Copper alloy coin

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, --- (477)

- Bowl, --- (420)

The latest coin gives a terminus post quem at AD 176-180. The fact that the five coins range from AD 98-117 and AD 176-180 allows one to suppose the date of deposition short after the latest coin. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 176-200.

Grave 3: inhumation - c. AD 174-200, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- Denarius of Trajan, Rome: AD 103-111
- Copper alloy coin of Hadrian (?): AD 117-138
- Sestertius of Antoninus Pius, Rome: AD 145-161
- As of Antoninus Pius, Rome: AD 174-175
- Copper alloy coin of Antoninus Pius (?): AD 138-161
- Dupondius of Lucius Verus, Rome: AD 163-164
- Sestertius of Lucius Verus, Rome: AD 163-164
- Copper alloy coin
- Copper alloy coin
- Copper alloy coin

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Bowl, --- (395)
- Bowl, --- (435)

The latest coin gives a terminus post quem at AD 174-175. The fact that the seven coins range from AD 103-111 allows one to suppose the date of deposition short after the latest coin. Three other coins could not be identified. It is therefore possible that they are of later date. At present, the suggested date of the grave is c. AD 174-200.

Grave 4: inhumation - c. AD 186-210, based on the following datable items:

1. Coin:

- Sestertius of Commodus, Rome: AD 186-187

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar, --- (536)

The Sestertius of Commodus gives a terminus post quem at AD 186-187. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 186-210.

Gordola, property Scheggia (parcel no. 193; 1969)

Grave 1: inhumation - c. AD 30-70, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Fragment

- Cup, Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period

- Cups (2), Conspectus Form 34: Late Tiberian to Flavian period

- Dishes (2), Conspectus Form 20: mid-1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Thin walled cup, 117.79.12

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 117.79.18

The date of sigillata is in Tiberian and Flavian times. The present writer would therefore suggest a date for the grave in the period c. AD 30-70.

Gordola, Recovery 1979

Grave 1: inhumation - c. AD 30-70, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period
- Cup, Conspectus Form 4.2/36: Tiberian period, rare until end of 1st century AD
- Dish, Conspectus Form 4: Tiberian to Claudian period

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled beaker, 117.79.4
- Thin walled beaker, 117.79.5
- Bowl, 117.79.9

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 117.79.6

The date of sigillata is within Tiberian and Flavian times. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 30-70.

Locarno

Here are listed all vessels found in the Locarno area once kept in the Archivio di Stato at Locarno. Their contexts are unknown. All items, however, with indication of 1936 as year of discovery may belong to the cemeteries of Locarno-Muralro or Minusio, excavated in 1936 by Ch. Simonett.

Locarno-Muralto

Muralto, property Passalli (1936)

Grave 1: inhumation - c. AD 70-120, based on the following datable items:

1. Black slip:

- Dish, Lamboglia Form 16 (Sena Chiesa pl. 78.1): beginning of 1st century AD

2. Glass:

- Balsamarium, Isings Form 28: second half of 1st century AD

3. Brooch:

- Brooch, Type ?

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Closed form:

- Flagon, 1936.113

The datable material belongs within c. AD 20-70 AD. The suggested date of the Grave is c. AD 70-120.

Grave 2: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 1936.117

- Jar, 1936.149

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 1936.50

Grave 3: inhumation - c. AD 50-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, foot ring, Conspectus Form 18-20: mid-1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Thin walled cup, 1936.1

2. Closed form:

- Jug, 1936.14

The only datable grave-good belongs to mid-1st century AD. The suggested date of the Grave is c. AD 50-100.

Grave 4: inhumation - c. AD 15-65, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (2), Conspectus Form 22: 80 BC to Tiberian period
- Dish, ring foot, Conspectus Form 18-20: mid-1st century AD

2. Glass:

- Balsamaria (5), Isings Form 6: first half of 1st century AD

3. Coins:

- Semi-victoriatus of Vibia, mint ?: 211-208 BC
- As of Augustus, Rome: 6 BC

4. Brooches:

- Nauheim-brooch, Ettlinger 1977, Type 1: 75-0 BC
- Long-spiral brooches (2), Ettlinger 1977, Type 6 (Armbrustfibel): late La Tène to AD 50

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none

The datable material belongs to c. AD 10-60. To the grave-goods belong two coins: the Semi-victoriatus of Vibia, issued in 211-208 BC, does not provide any dating evidence; the As of Augustus, issued in 6 BC, seems to be too early in comparison with some of the other grave-goods to be a likely terminus post quem for the Grave. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 15-65.

Grave 5: inhumation - c. AD 10-60, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 22: 80 BC to Tiberian period
- Dish, foot ring, Conspectus Form 18-20: mid-1st century AD

2. Glass:

- Balsamaria (2), Isings Form 6: first half of 1st century AD

3. Coin:

- Copper alloy coin (As): first century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Thin walled cup, 1936.6

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 1936.18b

The datable grave-goods belong within the first half of the 1st century AD. The suggested date is c. AD 10-60.

Grave 6: inhumation - c. AD 10-60, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 22: 80 BC to Tiberian period
- Cup, Conspectus 26: first half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Thin walled cup, 1936.7

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 1936.123

The datable grave-goods belong within the first half of the 1st century AD. The suggested date is c. AD 10-60.

Grave 7: inhumationDatable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dishes (2), Conspectus Form 39: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD
- Fragments of two cups

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar, 1936.127a

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 1936.124

The only datable grave-good belongs to c. AD 50-150. It seems to be impossible to suggest a closer date for the Grave.

Grave 8: inhumation

Destroyed. No grave-goods.

Grave 9: inhumation - c. AD 50-100 (?), based on the following datable items:

1. Glass:

- Balsamaria (4), Isings Form 28: second half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Thin walled beaker, 1936.51

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 1936.107

The only datable grave-good belongs to AD 50-100. It is impossible to suggest a closer date of the Grave.

Grave 10: inhumation - c. AD 50-100 (?), based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 43: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Two-handled jar, 1936.129

The only datable grave-good belongs to AD 50-100. It is impossible to suggest a closer date of the Grave.

Grave 11: inhumation

No grave-goods.

Grave 12: cremation - c. AD 50-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 20: mid-1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 1936.135

- Cup, 1936.134

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 1936.133

The only datable grave-good dates to mid-1st century AD. The suggested date of the Grave is c. AD 50-100.

Grave 13: cremation

Datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, fragment, Form ?

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Closed form:

- Flagon, 1936.138

Grave 14: inhumation - c. AD 20-70, based on the following datable items:

Datable items :

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup Type SARIVS: beginning of 1st century AD

- Copper alloy coin

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 1936.140
- Lid, 1936.141

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 1936.13

The only datable grave-good belongs to the beginning of the 1st century AD. Another datable grave-good, the coin, is too worn and does not provide any dating evidence. The suggested date of the Grave is therefore c. AD 20-70.

Grave 15: cremation - c. AD 0-50, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 8: early to mid-Augustan period

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled beaker, 1936.143
- Jar, 1936.145
- Jar, 1936.146

The only datable grave-good belongs to c. 30-0 BC. The suggested date of the Grave is c. AD 0-50.

Grave 16: cremation - c. AD 70-120, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 32: Tiberian period to second half of 1st century

AD

- Cup, similar to Drag. 35: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Two-handled jar, 1936.922

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 1936.53

The datable material belongs to c. AD 25-75. The suggested date of the Grave is therefore c. AD 70-120.

Grave 17: cremation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Flagon, 1936.92

The only datable grave-good belongs generally to the 2nd century AD. A closer date of the Grave will be maybe possible considering the coarse and thin walled pottery.

Grave 2: inhumation - c. AD 70-120, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period
- Cups (3), Conspectus Form 43: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD
- Dishes (4), Conspectus Form 39: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Beaker, 1936.546
- Jar, 1936.706

The datable material belongs to c. AD 50-100. The suggested date of the Grave is therefore c. AD 70-120.

Grave 3: inhumation - c. AD 100-150, based on the following datable items:

1. Glass:

- Cup, Isings Form 41: second half of 1st century AD

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 1936.1178
- Thin walled beaker, 1936.917

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 1936.1007

The datable material allows one to suggest c. AD 20-70 as date of the group.

The suggested date of the Grave is therefore c. AD 40-70.

Grave 44: inhumation - c. AD 41-80, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period
- Cup, Conspectus Form 34: late Tiberian to Flavian period, rare later
- Dishes (2), Conspectus Form 20: mid-1st century AD

2. Glass:

- Thin walled beaker, 1936.1198

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 23. The suggested date of the Grave is therefore c. AD 23-60/70.

Grave 50: cremation

Datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 39: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century

AD

- Dish, fragments, Form ?

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

The only datable grave-good belongs to c. AD 50-150. It is impossible to suggest a closer date of the Grave.

Grave 51: cremation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Closed form:

- Flagon, 1936.1252

Muralto, property Tommasi (1984)

Grave 1: inhumation - c. AD 330-380, based on the following datable items:

1. Coin:

- As of Constantinus I for Constans II, Lugdunum : AD 330-334

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

The only datable grave-good dates to AD 330-334. The suggested date of the Grave is therefore c. AD 330-380.

Grave 2: inhumation - c. AD 330-380, based on the following datable items:

1. Glass:

- Cup, Isings Form 96: 3rd century AD

2. Coins:

- Copper alloy coin

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

The only datable grave-good belongs within the 3rd century AD. Another datable grave-good, a coin, is unfortunately too worn. According to the other Graves of the group, dated to the 4th century AD, also this Grave may be dating from the same century, c. AD 330-380.

Grave 3: inhumation - c. AD 351-380, based on the following datable items:

1. Glass:

- Cup, Isings Form 96: 3rd century AD
- Bottle, Isings Form 104: 3rd century AD
- Bottle, Isings Form 120: 4th century AD

2. Coins:

- As of Constantinus I, Londinium or Lugdunum: AD 321-323
- As of Constans II, Siscia: AD 351-361
- As: probably mid-4th century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 351-361 (As of Constans II). The other datable grave-goods suggest c. AD 300-350 as date for the Grave. The presence of two coins dated AD 321/323 and AD 351/361 allows one to suggest a date of deposition shortly after the later Grave. A further coin could provide a further terminus post quem, but the coin is too worn. The suggested date is therefore c. AD 351-380.

Grave 4: inhumation - c. AD 321-370, based on the following datable items:

1. Glass:

- Bottle, Isings Form 104: 3rd century AD
- Bottle, fragments

2. Coins:

- As of Constantinus II for Crispus, Arelate: AD 321

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 321 (As of Constantinus II). The suggested date of the Grave is therefore c. AD 321-370.

Grave 5: inhumation - c. AD 350-380, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- As of Constantinus II, Siscia: AD 350
- Asses (2) of Magnetius, Treviri: AD 350-353
- As of Magnetius, Rome: AD 350

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 350-353 (coins of Magnetius). The presence of four coins issued within AD 350-353 allows one to suggest a date of deposition shortly after the later coins. The suggested date is therefore c. AD 350-380.

Muralto, property Branca (1936)

Grave 1: inhumation - c. AD 41-80, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Bowl, 1936.11
- Bowl, 1936.2
- Mortarium, 1936.95b

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 41-52 (As of Claudius). The other datable grave-goods belong to c. AD 20-70. The suggested date of the Grave is therefore c. AD 41-80.

Grave 2: inhumation - c. AD 20-70, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 4.2/36: Tiberian period

2. Glass:

- Balsamarium, Isings Form 28: second half of 1st century AD
- Cup, Isings Form 41: second half of 1st century AD
- Cup, Isings Form 44: second half of 1st century AD
- Dish, Isings Form 47: second half of 1st century AD
- Rod, Isings Form 79: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coin:

- As of Augustus, Rome: AD 11-12

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Thin walled beaker, 1936.19

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 11-12 (As of Augustus). The datable material belongs to c. AD 20-70. The suggested date of the Grave is therefore the same period.

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is the 2nd century AD (Donati 1988, 118). According to the only datable grave-good, a possible date of the grave is from Tiberian times. It is not possible to define a closer date.

Grave 57.4: cremation

Datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 43: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Thin walled cup (?), 134.57.171
- Thin walled cup (?), 134.57.172
- Bowl, 134.57.168
- Jar, 134.57.169

2. Closed forms:

- Flagon, 134.57.167
- Flagon, 134.57.166

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is the 2nd century AD (Donati 1988, 120). The only datable grave-good belongs to c. AD 50-150. It is not possible to suggest a closer date of the grave.

Grave 57.5: cremation

Destroyed, no context.

According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 57.5 is later than Graves 57.7 and 57.8.

Grave 57.6: cremation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Mortarium (?), 134.57.179

- Jar, 134.57.180

- Jar or bowl (?), 134.57.181

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 134.57.178

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is the 2nd century AD (Donati 1988, 122).

Grave 57.7: inhumation

Datable items:

1. Coin:
 - Copper alloy coin

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is the end of the 1st and the beginning of the 2nd century AD (Donati 1988, 124). According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 57.7 is earlier than Grave 57.5.

Grave 57.8: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery

1. Open form:
 - Jar, 134.57.184
- 2 Closed form:
 - Flagon, 134.57.185

In the literature no date is suggested for this grave (Donati 1988, 124). According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 57.78 is earlier than Grave 57.5.

Grave 57.9: inhumation - c. AD 179-230, based on the following datable items:

1. Black slip pottery:
 - Cup, similar to Dragendorff Form. 32: first half of 2nd century AD

2. Coin:

- As of Faustina II, Rome: AD 179

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar, 134.57.190

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 134.57.191

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 170-220 (Donati 1988, 126).

The datable grave-goods are a black slip vesse, a sigillata cup and an As of Faustina II. In the literature, there is no mention about the possibility for one of these grave-goods of being intrusive. The As of Faustina II provides therefore a terminus post quem for the grave at AD 179. The suggested date of the grave is c. AD 179-230.

Grave 57.10: inhumation - c. AD 70-120, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (2), Conspectus Form 34: late Tiberian to Flavian period, rare later
- Cup, Conspectus Form 47: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD
- Dishes (2), Conspectus Form 39: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

2. Glass:

- Balsamaria (2), Isings Form 28: second half of 1st century AD

3. Lamp:

- Bronze lamp, Loeschcke (1919) Type XXI: 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 100-150 (Donati 1988, 130).

The datable grave-goods belong to c. AD 50-100. The suggested date of the grave c. AD 70-120.

Solduno, Modern cemetery (1958)

Grave 58.11: inhumation - c. AD 50-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 3: before mid-1st to second half of 1st century AD, rare later

2. Glass:

- Bottle, similar to Isings Form 50: second half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Thin walled cup, 134.58.311

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 134.58.309

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 50-100 (Donati 1988, 130).

The datable material belongs to c. AD 50-100. The present writer agrees with a date in the same period.

Grave 58.12: inhumation - c. AD 70-120, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (3), Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period
- Dishes (2), Conspectus Form 4: Tiberian to Claudian period
- Dishes (2), Conspectus Form 20: mid-1st century AD

2. Glass:

- Bottle, Isings Form 50: second half of 1st century AD
- Jug, Isings Form 55: second half of 1st century AD
- Balsamarium, Isings Form 55: second century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 134.58.292
- Thin walled beaker, 134.58.291

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 80-130 (Donati 1988, 134).

Sigillata and glass suggest a date for the group as c. AD 50-100 AD. The suggested date of the grave is c. 70-120.

Grave 58.13: inhumation - c. AD 70-120, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (2), Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period
- Cup (3), Conspectus Form 34: late Tiberian to Flavian period, rare later
- Dish, Conspectus Form 4: Tiberian to Claudian period
- Dish, Conspectus Form 47: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

2. Glass:

- Balsamaria (11) , Isings Form 27: second half of 1st century AD
- Bottle, Isings Form 50a: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coins:

- Quinarius of Augustus, Emerita: 25-23 BC
- Copper alloy coin

4. Bronze vessel:

- Pan: Augustan period to 2nd century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 134.58.269

- Thin walled beaker, 134.58.268
- Bowl, 134.58.267

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 50-100 (Donati 1988, 140).

Sigillata and glass suggest a date of the group to c. AD 20-70. The suggested date of the grave is c. AD 70-120.

Grave 58.14: inhumation

Grave 58.14 was destroyed during the construction of Grave 58.15. It has not been possible to distinguish the two grave contents, which are listed together as graves 58.14+15. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 58.14 is earlier than Grave 58.15.

Graves 58.14+15: inhumation

Datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (4), Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period
- Cup, Conspectus Form 34: late Tiberian to Flavian period, rare later
- Dish, Conspectus Form 20: mid-1st century AD

2 Glass:

- Cup, Isings Form 42: second half of 1st century AD
- Balsamaria (6), Isings Form 27/28: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coins:

- As of Tiberius for Augustus, Rome: AD 34-37

- As of Tiberius for Drusus (?): AD 34-37
- As of Vespasian, Rome: AD 71
- As or Dupondius of Marcus Aurelius or Commodus: 161-180 AD or AD 180-192

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 134.58.237
- Thin walled cup, 134.58.238
- Beaker, 134.58.236
- Bowl, 134.58.235
- Jar, 134.58.234

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 134.58.233

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 80-130 (Donati 1988, 146).

The fact that the content of two Graves, 58.14 destroyed by 58.15, were recovered together, does not allow one to distinguish the grave-goods of each grave and therefore to suggest a date of the graves.

Grave 58.16: inhumation - c. AD 70-120, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (7), Conspectus Form 34: late Tiberian to Flavian period, rare later

- Dishes (4), Conspectus Form 39: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

2. Glass:

- Balsamarium, Isings Form 10: first half of 1st century AD
- Bottles (2), Isings Form 50b: 2nd half of 1st century AD
- Rod, Isings Form 79: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coin:

- Copper alloy coin: ? (Germanicus ?)

4. Bronze vessel:

- Pan: Augustan period to 2nd century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Bowl, 134.58.203
- Jar, 134.58.202

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 80-150 (Donati 1988, 146-152).

The datable grave-goods suggest a date for the group as c. AD 50-100. The present writer would therefore prefer a date for the grave in the period c. 70-120.

Grave 58.17: inhumation - c. AD 77/78-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (2), Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period

- Cups (9), Conspectus Form 34: late Tiberian to Flavian period, rare later
- Dishes (3), Conspectus Form 39: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD
- Dish, Conspectus Form 41: Flavian to first half of 2nd century AD

2. Lamp:

- Lamp by FORTIS, Leibundgut Type 23 (Firmalampe): 1st century AD

3. Glass:

- Cup, Isings Form ?
- Balsamaria (2), Isings Form 10: first half of 1st century AD
- Bottle, Isings Form 14: first half of 1st century AD
- Beaker, Isings Form 21: second half of 1st century AD
- Balsamaria (2), Isings Form 27/28: second half of 1st century AD
- Beaker, Isings Form 31: second half of 1st century AD
- Bottles (4), Isings Form 50: second half of 1st century AD

4. Coins:

- Sestertius of Vespasian, Rome: AD 71
- Dupondius of Vespasian, Lugdunum: AD 77-78
- Dupondius of Vespasian, Lugdunum: AD 77-78

5. Brooch:

- Brooch, Ettlinger 1973, Type 40 (Radfibel): AD 20-50

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Beaker, 134.58.131
- Bowl, 134.58.132

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 80-150 (Donati 1988, 150-152).

The datable grave-goods suggest a date of the group as c. AD 70-100. There is given a terminus post quem at AD 77-78 (Dupondii of Vespasian). The presence of three coins issued within AD 71 and AD 77/78 allows one to suppose a date of deposition shortly after the later coins. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 77/78-100.

Grave 58.18: inhumation - c. AD 81-130, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup (2), Conspectus Form 34: late Tiberian to Flavian period, rare later
- Dishes (2), Conspectus Form 39: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD
- Dish, Conspectus Form 41: Flavian period to first half of 2nd century AD
- Dish, Conspectus Form 47: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

2. Glass:

- Bottle, Isings Form 50: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coins:

- Asses or Dupondii (2) of Domitian, Rome: AD 81-96

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Beaker, 134.58.184
- Bowl, 134.58.178

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 100-150 (Donati 1988, 158).

Sigillata and glass suggest a date of the group from Flavian times, c. AD 70-120. There is give a terminus post quem at AD 81-96 (coins of Domitian). The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 81-130.

Grave 58.19: inhumation - c. AD 69-120, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (2), Conspectus Form 34: late Tiberian to Flavian period, rare later
- Cups (2), Conspectus Form 45: Flavian period to first half of 2nd century AD
- Cups (4), Conspectus Form 49: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD
- Dishes (2), Conspectus Form 39: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD
- Dish, Conspectus Form 41: Flavian period to first half of 2nd century AD
- Dishes (2), Conspectus Form 47: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

2. Glass:

- Beaker, Isings Form 33: second half of 1st century AD
- Bottles (2), Isings Form 50: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coins:

- As or Dupondius of Galba: AD 68-69
- As or Dupondius of Vespasian: AD 69-79

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Beaker, 134.58.171
- Bowl, 134.58.157

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 100-150 (Donati 1988, 164).

The datable material belongs to c. AD 70-120. There is given a terminus post quem at AD 69-79 (coin of Vespasian). The present writer would therefore prefer a date for the grave in the period c. AD 69-120.

Grave 58.20: inhumation - c. AD 70-120, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (3), Conspectus Form 34: late Tiberian to Flavian period, rare later
- Cups (6), Conspectus Form 45: Flavian period to first half of 2nd century AD
- Dishes (4), Conspectus Form 39: second half of first to 1st half of 2nd century AD

2. Lamp:

- Lamp by STROBILI, Loeschcke (1919) Type IX: 1st century AD

3. Glass:

- Dish, Isings Form 19: second half of 1st century AD
- Balsamaria (3), Isings Form 28: second half of 1st century AD
- Beaker, Isings Form 33: second half of 1st century AD

- Cups (2), Isings Form 42: second half of 1st century AD
- Jug, Isings Form 55a: second half of 1st century AD

4. Coin:

- Copper alloy coin

5. Bronze vessel:

- Pan: Augustan period to 2nd century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 134.58.81
- Beaker, 134.58.82
- Bowl, 134.58.80

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 100-150 (Donati 1988, 168).

The datable material suggests a date of the group from Flavian times. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 70-120.

Solduno, Modern cemetery (1976)

Grave 76.1: inhumation

Datable items:

1. Glazed pottery:

- Flagon: 2nd century AD

2. Coins:

- Copper alloy coins (2): ?

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 200-250 (Donati 1988, 178).

The only datable grave-good belongs to the 2nd century AD. It is impossible to suggest a closer date of the grave.

Grave 76.2: inhumation - c. AD 200-250, based on the following datable items:

1. Lamp:

- Lamp, Leibundgut (1977) Type 32 (Firmalampe): 2nd-3rd century AD

2 Glass:

- Balsamarium, Isings Form 28: second half of 1st century AD
- Bottle, Isings Form 100: 3rd century AD
- Beaker, similar to Isings Form 108 (4th century AD)
- Flask, Isings Form 92/103: 2nd-3rd century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Dish 134.76.32

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 200-250 (Donati 1988, 182).

The datable material belongs to the 3rd century AD. The date suggested in the literature is therefore a likely one.

Grave 76.3: cremation - c. AD 100-150 (?), based on the following datable items:

1. Black slip pottery:

- Dish, similar to Conspectus Form 3/4: Augustan period

2. Lamp:

- Lamp, Leibundgut 1977, Type 32 (Firmalampe): 2nd-3rd century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Dish, 134.76.37

- Bowl, 134.76.39

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 200-250 (Donati 1988, 184).

The latest datable grave-good belongs to the 2nd and 3rd century AD. The other grave-good dates to the Augustan period. A likely date of the grave could be c. AD 100-150. Both coarse vessels, however, seem to belong in the 3rd century AD (see Chapter 4, Sections Bowls and Dishes). The likely date of the grave is therefore c. AD 200-250, as suggested in the literature.

Grave 76.4: inhumation - c. AD 117-150, based on the following datable items:

1. Glass:

- Amphora, Isings Form ? Rim and handle: see Isings Form 126: 4th century AD

2. Coins:

- Sestertius of Trajan, Rome: AD 103-111
- Sestertius of Hadrian: AD 117-138

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 200-250 (Donati 1988, 186).

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 117-138. The presence of another coin issued in AD 103-111 allows one to suggest a date of deposition shortly after the later coin. The other datable grave-good does not provide any dating evidence. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 117-150.

Grave 76.5: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 200-250 (Donati 1988, 188).

Grave 76.6: inhumation

Datable items

1. Glazed pottery:
 - Fragments of glazed ware: 2. century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 200-250 (Donati 1988, 188).

Grave 76.7: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 200-250 (Donati 1988, 190).

Solduno, Modern cemetery (1980)

Grave 80.1: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Handled cup, 134.80.1

- Jar, 134.80.2

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 80-130 (Donati 1988, 10).

Losone

Arcegno

Grave 1: inhumation, partly destroyed

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled beaker, 139.70.210
- Fragments, 139.70.211

Grave 2: inhumation - c. AD 70-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (2), Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period
- Cup, Conspectus Form 46: Flavian period to 1st half of 2nd century AD
- Cups (2), Conspectus Form 44: Flavian period to first half of 2nd century AD

- Dish, Conspectus Form 39: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

2. Glass:

- Beaker, Isings Form 34: second half of 1st century AD
- Dish, Isings Form 43: second half of 1st century AD
- Bottle, Isings Form 50 a: second half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

2. Closed forms:

- Flagon, 139.70.219
- Flagon, 139.70.220

Most of datable grave-goods belong to the second half of the 1st century AD, some of them occur from the Flavian period. A suggested date of the grave is c. AD 70-100.

Grave 3: inhumation - c. AD 70-120, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 3: before mid-1st to end of 1st century AD, rare later

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

- Fragments

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is the period within the end of the 1st and the beginning of the 2nd century AD (Donati 1974, 68).

The only datable grave-good occurs in the second half of the 1st century AD.

The suggested date for the grave is c. AD 70-120. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 3 is earlier than Grave 93 (c. AD 173-200).

Grave 4: inhumation - c. AD 154-180, based on the following datable items:

1. Glass:

- Beaker, similar to Isings Form 30: second half of 1st century AD

2. Coins:

- As of Domitian, Rome: AD 90-91
- Sestertius of Antoninus Pius, Rome: AD 145-161

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

- Jar, 139.70.239

The latest material in the grave is dated AD 145-146 (Sestertius of Antoninus Pius). There is a gap of about 50 years between the two coins. Moreover, the glass beaker and the earlier coin constitute a group. In the excavation report there is no evidence, however, of the possibility for the later coin of being intrusive. The presence of the later may argue for a deposition shortly after it. The suggested date for the grave is therefore c. AD 145-180.

Grave 5: inhumation - c. AD 231-250, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- Sestertius of Hadrian: AD 117-138
- Sestertii (2) of Marcus Aurelius for Faustina II: after AD 175
- Sestertii (2) of Commodus: AD 180-183
- Sestertii (2) of Commodus for Marcus Aurelius, Rome: AD 192
- Sesterius of Commodus for Crispina, Rome: AD 192
- Dupondius (?) of Severus Alexander, Rome: AD 223-235
- Sestertius of Severus Alexander, Rome: AD 231-235
- As of Severus Alexander, Rome: AD 231-235

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Dish, 139.70.248

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 230-260 (Donati 1974, 72).

The latest datable grave-goods are two coins of Severus Alexander (AD 231-235). The presence of four coins issued within the period AD 175-192, and in particular that of three coins dating from AD 223-235, argues for a deposition date short after the later coins. The present writer would therefore prefer a date for the grave in the period c. AD 231-250.

Grave 6: inhumation - c. AD 0-50, based on the following datable items:

1. Brooch:

- Long-spring brooch, Ettlinger Type 6 (Armbrustfibel): late La Tène to AD 50

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

- Fragments, 139.70.251

- Fragments, 139.70.252

The only datable grave-good belongs within the period between the end of the 1st century BC and the first half of the first century AD. The suggested date for the grave is therefore c. AD 0-50.

Grave 7: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Beaker, 139.70.254

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 139.70.253
- Fragments, 139.70.255

Grave 8: inhumation - c. AD 194-210, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- Sestertius of Hadrian: AD 117-138
- Sestertius of Commodus: AD 180-192
- Sestertius of Albinus, Rome: AD 194-195

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Cup, 139.70.262
- Jar, 139.70.263
- Dish, 139.70.261

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 194-195 (Sestertius of Albinus).

The presence of another coin issued at AD 180-192 argues for a deposition shortly after the later coin. The suggested date for the grave is therefore c. AD 194-210.

Grave 9: inhumation .- c. AD 161-180, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 39/40: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

2. Glass:

- Beaker, Isings Form 33: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coins:

- Sestertius of Hadrian: AD 117-138
- Dupondius of Hadrian (?): AD 117-138
- As of Faustina II, Rome: AD 161-175
- Copper alloy coins (2)

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 139.70.270
- Bowl, 139.70.269

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 139.70.271

The latest datable material in the grave is dated AD 161-175 (As of Faustina II). All other datable grave-goods are earlier and the date of the group is within AD 117-140. Between this dating and the coin of Faustina II there is a gap of c. 20 years. Two coins, however, have not been identified and in the excavation report there is no mention of the possibility for the coin of Faustina II of being intrusive. It seems therefore to belong to the grave-goods. For this reason, the suggested date for the grave is shortly after the later coin, c. AD

161-180. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 9 is also earlier than Grave 10, that did not contain any grave-goods.

Grave 10: inhumation

No grave-goods.

According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 10 is later than Grave 9 (c. AD 161-180).

Grave 11: inhumation

No grave-goods.

Grave 12: inhumation - c. AD 180-200, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 36: early Augustan period

2. Coins:

- Sestertii (2) of Faustina II (?): AD 161-175
- Copper alloy coins (2) of Commodus: AD 180-192
- Copper alloy coin

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Bowl, 139.70.282
- Dish, 139.70.283

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 139.70.284

The latest coins give a terminus post quem at AD 180-192 (coins of Commodus). Although the sigillata cup is much earlier, the group of two coins date to AD 161-175 and two coins date to AD 180-192 allow one to suggest the period c. AD 180-200 as likely date for the grave.

Grave 13: inhumation

No grave-goods.

Grave 14: inhumation - c. AD 161-190, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- As of Hadrian: AD 117-138
- Sestertius of Hadrian: AD 117-138
- Sestertius of Antoninus Pius, Rome: AD 156-157
- Copper alloy coin of Marcus Aurelius (?): AD 161-180
- Copper alloy coin

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 139.70.292
- Bowl, 139.70.291

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 161-180 (coin of Marcus Aurelius). The presence of coins issued within the period AD 117/138-161/180, in particular of those dating from 156/157-161-180 allows one to suggest a date for the grave shortly after the later coin. The present writer would therefore suggest a date for the grave in the period c. AD 161-190.

Grave 15: inhumation - c. AD 98-140, based on the following datable items:

1. Glass:

- Beaker, Isings Form 21: first half of 1st century AD

2. Coin:

- As of Trajan: AD 98-117

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Bowl, 139.70.304
- Jar, 139.70.303

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 98-117. The other datable grave-good does not provide any dating evidence. The suggested date of the Grave is c. AD 98-140.

Grave 16: inhumation - c. AD 119-140, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 45.1.3 : Flavian period to first half of 2nd century AD
- Cups (2), Conspectus Form 49: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

2. Glass:

- Bottle, Isings Form 50a: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coins:

- As of Vespasian: AD 69-79
- Dupondius of Hadrian, Rome: AD 119-121

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Cup, 139.70.400
- Beaker, 139.70.403
- Jar, 139.70.401
- Bowl, 139.70.402

Most of datable grave-goods occur from the Flavian period. The group could therefore use as terminus post quem the As of Vespasian. A later date at AD 119-121, however, is provided by the Dupondius of Hadrian. Since in the excavation report there is no mention about the possibility of being intrusive, it can be considered as terminus post quem. The suggested date for the grave is therefore shortly after AD 119-121, c. AD 119-140. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 16 is later than Grave 23, c. AD 80/81-100.

Grave 17: inhumation - c. AD 50-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Glass:

- Bottle, Isings Form 50a: second half of 1st centuryAD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 139.70.413
- Lid (?), 139.70. 419

The only datable grave-good belongs to the second half of the 1st century AD.

The suggested date for the grave is c. AD 50-100.

Grave 18: inhumation - c. AD 86-110, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (2), Conspectus Form 34: late Tiberian to Flavian period
- Cup, Conspectus Form 46: Flavian period to first half of 2nd century AD
- Dish, Conspectus Form 3 (?): before mid- 1st to end of 1st century AD
- Dish, Conspectus Form 39: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

2. Glass:

- Cup, Isings Form 41a: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coins:

- Dupondius of Domitian, Rome: AD 86-96

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar, 139.70.421

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 139.70.420

Most of the datable grave-goods belong to the second half of the 1st century AD. In particular, there is given a terminus post quem at AD 86-96 (Dupondius of Domitian). The suggested date for the grave is therefore c. AD 86-110.

Grave 19: inhumation - c. AD 85-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 34: late Tiberian to Flavian period
- Dish, Conspectus Form 4: before mid-1st to end of 1st century AD

2. Glass:

- Flagon, Isings Form 14: first half of 1st century AD
- Balsamarium, Isings Form 28b: second half of 1st century AD
- Bottle, Isings Form 50a: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coins:

- Sestertius of Vespasian, Rome: AD 70
- As of Domitian, Rome: AD 85-96

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 139.70.440
- Jar, 139.70.438

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 139.70.437

Most of the datable grave-goods belong to the second half of the 1st century AD. In particular, there is given a terminus post quem at AD 85-96 (As of Domitian). The presence of two coins within the period AD 70-85/96 argues for a date of deposition after the later coin. The present writer would therefore suggest a date for the grave in the period c. AD 85-100.

Grave 20: inhumation - c. AD 235-250, based on the following datable items:

1. Brooch:

- Long-spring brooch, Ettlinger Type 6 (Armbrustfibel): late La Tène to AD

2. Coins:

- Sestertius of Hadrian: AD 117-138
- Sestertius of Antoninus Pius: AD 138-161
- Sestertius of Antoninus Pius for Faustina I: after AD 141
- Sestertius of Commodus: AD 180-192
- Sestertii (2) of Commodus for Marcus Aurelius, Rome: AD 192
- Sestertius of Geta, Rome: AD 210
- Sestertius of Severus Alexander, Rome: AD 230
- Sestertius of Severus Alexander, Rome: AD 231-235
- Sestertius of Maximinus I, Rome: AD 235-236

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Bowl, 139.70.459

The coins range from AD 117-138 to AD 235-236. The long-spring brooch, dated to the first half of the 1st century AD, does not bear any dating evidence. There is, however, even the possibility of being intrusive. The excavation report only lists it within the other grave-goods as belonging to the grave. The presence of three coins issued within the period AD 230-235/236 argues for a date of deposition shortly after the later coin. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 235-250.

Grave 21: inhumation - c. AD 40-70, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 3 (?): before mid-1st to end of 1st century AD

- Dish, Conspectus Form 19: late Augustan to Tiberian period

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Thin walled cup, 139.70.461

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 139.70.463

The datable grave-goods suggest as date for the group c. AD 40-70. The suggested date of the grave is therefore the same period.

Grave 22: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 139.70.468

- Jar, 139.70.464

- Fragments, 139.70.469

2. Closed forms:

- Flagon, 139.70.465

- Flagon, 139.70.466

Grave 23: inhumation - c. AD 80/81-130, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period

- Dish, Conspectus Form 3 (?): before mid-1st to end of 1st century AD

2. Glass:

- Cup, Isings Form 12: first half of 1st century AD
- Balsamarium, Isings Form 28a: second half of 1st century AD
- Beaker, Isings Form 31: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coin:

- As of Titus, Rome: AD 80-81

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar, 139.70.473

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 139.70.470

The latest datable material belongs to the second half of the 1st century AD. In particular, there is given a terminus post quem at AD 80-81 (As of Titus). The fact that some grave-goods still belong to the first half of the 1st century AD allows one to suggest as date for the grave c. AD 80/81-100. According to vertical stratigraphy, Grave 23 is earlier than Grave 16, c. AD 119-140.

Grave 24: inhumation - c. AD 210-230, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- Sestertii (2) of Caracalla (?): AD 196-217
- Sestertius of Caracalla, Rome: AD 210-213

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar, 139.70.483

The presence of three coins within the period AD 196-217 and AD 210-213 suggests a date for the group shortly after AD 210, c. AD 210-230.

Grave 25: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Beaker, 139.70.491

Grave 26: inhumation - c. AD 80/81-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 3 (?): before mid-1st to end of 1st century AD

2. Glass:

- Flagon, Isings Form 14: first half of 1st century AD

- Beaker, Isings Form 31: second half of 1st century AD

3. Brooch:

- Aucissa brooch, Ettlinger Type 29: 25 BC- 50 AD

4. Coins:

- As of Titus, Rome: AD 80-81

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Thin walled beaker, 139.70.501

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 139.70.502

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 80-81 (As of Titus). The fact that most of the datable grave-goods still belong to the first half of the 1st century AD argues for a date of deposition shortly after AD 80-81. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 80/81-100.

Grave 27: inhumation - c. AD 244-260, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- Sestertius of Domitian: AD 81-96
- Sestertius of Hadrian: AD 117-138
- Sestertius of Antoninus Pius for Faustina I: after AD 141
- Sestertius of Marcus Aurelius, Rome: AD 161-162
- Sestertius of Marcus Aurelius: AD 163-165
- Sesterius of Marcus Aurelius, Rome: AD 170-171
- Sestertius of Marcus Aurelius, Rome: AD 172-173
- Copper alloy coin of Marcus Aurelius (?): AD 161-180
- Copper alloy coin of Commodus: AD 180-192
- Sestertius of Septimius Severus, Rome: AD 193-194
- Sestertius of Alexander Severus, Rome: AD 229
- Sestertius of Alexander Severus, Rome: AD 231-235

- As of Alexander Severus, Rome: AD 222-235
- Sestertii (2) of Alexander Severus for Iulia Mamaea, Rome: after AD 235
- Sestertius of Gordian III, Rome: AD 243-244
- Sestertius of Philippus I, Rome: AD 244-249

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:
 - Cup, 139.70.521

The datable grave-goods consist exclusively of coins, whose date range from AD 81-96 to AD 244-249. The terminus post quem is given at AD 244-249 (Sestertius of Philippus I). The presence of six coins within the period AD 229-244/249 allows one to suggest a date of deposition shortly after the later coin. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 244-260.

Grave 28: inhumation - c. AD 235-250, based on the following datable items:

1. Glass:
 - Flask, Isings Form 92: 2nd century AD
2. Coins:
 - Sestertius of Hadrian: AD 117-138
 - Sestertius of Marcus Aurelius, Rome: AD 178
 - Sestertii (2) of Alexander Severus, Rome: AD 231-235
 - Asses (2) of Alexander Severus, Rome: AD 231-235
 - Sestertii (2) of Alexander Severus for Iulia Mamaea, Rome: after AD 235

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Closed form:

- Flagon, 139.70.524

The datable grave-goods belong to the 2nd and the 3rd centuries AD. In particular, there is given a terminus post quem from AD 235 (Sestertii of Alexander Severus for Iulia Mamaea). The presence of six coins issued within the period AD 231-325 could allow one to suggest a date of deposition shortly after the later coins. The gap between these coins and the other two dated to AD 117-138 and AD 178 may suggest the presence of intrusive elements. Unfortunately, the excavation report does not mention the fact and only lists the grave-goods. Therefore, and considering that coins may have a life-expectancy rather long, the earlier grave-goods could belong to the grave but do not bear any datable element. The suggested date for the grave is c. AD 235-250. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 28 is later than Grave 29, c. AD 50-100.

Grave 29: inhumation - c. AD 50-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Glass:

- Bottle, Isings Form 50a: second half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 139.70.547

- Jar, 139.70.546

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 139.70.548

The only datable grave-good belongs to the second half of the 1st century AD. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 50-100. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 29 is earlier than Grave 28, whose suggested date is c. AD 235-250.

Grave 30: inhumation - c. AD 80/81-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (2), Conspectus Form 34: late Tiberian to Flavian period
- Dish, Conspectus Form 3 (?): before mid-1st to end of 1st century AD

2. Glass:

- Bottle, Isings Form 50b: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coins:

- Denarius of Vitellius, Rome: AD 69
- As of Titus, Rome: AD 80-81

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar, 139.70.554

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 139.70.562

The datable grave-goods belong to the second half of the 1st century AD. Some of them, however, already occur during the first half of the century. There is given a terminus post quem at AD 80-81 (As of Titus). The suggested date of deposition is therefore c. AD 80/81-100.

Grave 31: inhumation, partly destroyed - c. AD 229-250, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- As of Trajan: AD 98-117
- Sestertii (2) of Hadrian: AD 117-138
- Sestertius of Antoninus Pius for Faustina I: after AD 141
- Sestertii (3) of Antoninus Pius: AD 138-161
- Sestertius of Faustina II: AD 138-175
- Sestertii (2) of Commodus for Marcus Aurelius, Rome: AD 192
- Sestertius of Alexander Severus, Rome: AD 229

The grave-goods are coins issued from AD 98-117 to AD 229 (terminus post quem). The gap between each coin allows one to consider the group as a small hoard and to suggest a date of deposition shortly after the later coin. The present writer would therefore suggest a date for the grave in the period c. AD 229-250.

Grave 32: inhumation - c. AD 180-230, based on the following datable items:

1. Glass:

- Cup, Isings Form 87 ? : 2nd century AD

2. Brooch:

- Brooch, Ettlinger Type 52 (Zangenfibel): late 2nd to 3rd century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Bowl, 139.70.579

The datable grave-goods belong to the late 2nd century AD. The suggested date of the grave is c. AD 180-230.

Grave 33: inhumation - c. AD 167-190, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 43: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

2. Brooch:

- Nauheim brooch, Ettlinger Type 1: 75-20 BC

3. Coins:

- Copper alloy coin of Titus (?): AD 79-81
- Sestertii (2) of Antoninus Pius for Faustina I, Rome: after AD 141
- Dupondius of Antoninus Pius, Rome: AD 151-152
- Sestertius of Antoninus Pius, Rome: AD 154-155
- Sestertius of Marcus Aurelius, Rome: AD 167-168

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 139.70.601
- Dish, 139.70.603

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 167-168 (Sestertius of Marcus Aurelius). The presence of three coins within the period AD 151/152-167/168 allows one to suggest a date of deposition shortly after the later coin. The other datable grave-goods seem not to bear any dating evidence. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 167-190. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 33 is later than Grave 46 (c. AD 80/81-130).

Grave 34: inhumation - c. AD 86-110, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 46: Flavian period to first half of 2nd century AD
- Dish, Conspectus Form 3 (?): before mid-1st to end of 1st century AD

2. Glass:

- Beaker, Isings Form ?
- Bottle, Isings Form 50a: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coins:

- Sestertius of Domitian, Rome: AD 85-96

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled beaker, 139.70.613
- Bowl, 139.70.612

2. Closed forms:

- Flagon, 139.70.608
- Flagon, 139.70.609

The datable grave-goods belong to the second half of the 1st century AD. There is also given a terminus post quem at AD 85-96 (Sestertius of Domitian). The suggested date of the grave is c. AD 85-110.

Grave 35: inhumation

Datable items:

1. Coins:

- Denarius of Augustus: 32 BC

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

The only grave-good is a Denarius of Augustus, issued in 32 BC. This date may be seen as terminus post quem. Considering the possible life-expectancy of a coin, however, and lacking any other element, it is impossible to suggest a likely date for the grave.

Grave 36: inhumation

Datable items:

1. Black slip pottery:

- Campanian dish, similar to Conspectus Form 1.1.3: 40-15 BC

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

- Fragments, 139.70.617a

The only datable grave-goods belongs to the period within 40-15 BC. No other element allows one to suggest a likely date for the grave.

Grave 37: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

- Fragments, 139.70.618

The grave did not contain any datable material. According to the vertical stratigraphy, however, Grave 37 is later than Grave 38 (c. AD 0-50).

Grave 38: inhumation - c. AD 40-60, based on the following datable items:

1. Black slip pottery:

- Campanian dish, similar to Dragendorff 18/31-Conspectus Form 3 (?):
before mid-1st to end of 1st century AD
- Campanian cup, similar to Conspectus Form 8: 25-0 BC

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

The datable material indicates a date within the first half of the 1st century AD, c. AD 40-60. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 38 is earlier than Grave 37 (without any datable material) and of Grave 39 (c. AD 180-230).

Grave 39: inhumation - c. AD 180-230, based on the following datable items:

1. Brooch:

- Brooch, Ettlinger Type 52 (Zangenfibel): late 2nd to 3rd century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

- Fragments, 139.70.622
- Fragments, 139.70.623

The only datable grave-good belongs to the late 2nd century AD. The suggested date for the grave is c. AD 180-230. According the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 39 is earlier than Grave 40 (without any datable grave-goods) and later than Grave 38 (c. AD 40-60).

Grave 40: inhumation, partly destroyed by Graves 41 and 44

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

- Fragments, 139.70.626
- Fragments, 139.70.626a

The grave did not contain any datable grave-goods. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 40 is later than Grave 39 (c. AD 180-230), Grave 41 (c. AD 375-400) and Grave 44 (no grave-goods).

Grave 41: inhumation - c. AD 375-400, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- Copper alloy coin of Valentinianus I: AD 364-375
- Copper alloy coin of Valentinianus II, Aquileia (?): AD 375-392

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

- Fragments, 139.70.629

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 375-392 (coin of Valentinianus II). The presence of two coins issued within the period AD 364-375 and AD 375-392 allows one to suggest a date of deposition shortly after the later coin. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 375–400. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 41 is earlier than Grave 40 (without any datable grave-goods).

Grave 42: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Bowl 139.70.631

- Fragments 139.70.634a

The grave did not contain any datable element. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 42 is later than Grave 43 (no grave-goods).

Grave 43: inhumation

No grave-goods.

According to vertical stratigraphy, Grave 43 is earlier than Grave 42 (no grave-goods).

Grave 44: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

The grave did not contain any grave-good. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 44 is earlier than Grave 40 (without any datable grave-goods).

Grave 45: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

The grave did not contain any grave-good.

Grave 46: inhumation - c. AD 80/81-130, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 39: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

2. Glass:

- Oinochoe, Isings Form 88c: 2nd century AD

3. Coins:

- As of Titus, Rome: AD 80-81

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 139.70.647
- Jar, 139.70.644

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 139.70.651

The grave-goods belong to the late 1st and the first half of the 2nd century AD. There is given a terminus post quem at AD 80-81 (As of Titus). The suggested date of the grave is c. AD 80/81-130. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 46 is earlier than Grave 33 (c. AD 167-190).

Grave 47: inhumation - c. AD 141-160, based on the following datable items:

1. Glass:

- Beaker, Isings Form 21: first half of 1st century AD

2. Coins:

- Copper alloy coin of Claudius: AD 41-54
- Dupondius of Titus: AD 79-81
- Dupondius of Domitian, Rome: AD 85
- Sestertius of Antoninus Pius for of Faustina I: after AD 141

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar, 139.70.659

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 141 (Sestertius of Antoninus Pius for of Faustina I). The fact that the most of the grave-goods are earlier argues for the material being used collectively as a group. Since in the excavation report there is no mention of the possibility for the later coin of being intrusive, the suggested date for the grave is c. AD 141-160.

Grave 48: inhumation - c. AD 244-260, based on the following datable items:

1. Brooch:

- Brooch, Ettlinger Type 52 (Zangenfibel): late 2nd to 3rd century AD

2. Coins:

- Sestertii (2) of Hadrian: AD 117-138
- Sestertius of Antoninus Pius for Faustina I: after AD 141
- Sestertii (2) of Marcus Aurelius, Rome: AD 163-164

- Sestertii (2) of Alexander Severus for Iulia Mamaea, Rome: after AD 235
- Copper alloy coins (4) of Maximinus I: AD 235-238

*with wood fragments:

- Sestertius of Trajan: AD 98-117
- Sestertii (2) of Hadrian (?): AD 117-138 AD
- Sestertius of Antoninus Pius: AD 138-161
- Dupondius of Marcus Aurelius (?) : AD 161-180
- Sestertii (3) of Marcus Aurelius: AD 161-180
- Sestertius of Marcus Aurelius for Antoninus Pius, Rome: AD 171-172

In comparison to the other graves, Grave 48 shows a new element: the presence of a probable hoard of coins with possible remainings of a wooden box within the grave-goods, associated with another group of coins. Both the coins from the hoard with wood fragments and the smaller group contain coins issued within the beginning of the 2nd century AD (AD 98-117, and respectively AD 117-138) and mid-3rd century AD (AD 244-249, and respectively AD 235-238). There is given a terminus post quem at AD 244-249 (hoard with wood: two Sestertii of Philippus I). The presence of many coins issued within AD 231-235 and AD 244-249 allows one to suggest a date of deposition shortly after AD 244-249. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 244-260. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 48 is later than Grave 49 (c. AD 179-200).

Grave 49: inhumation - c. AD 179-200, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- Dupondius of Domitian: AD 81-96
- Sestertii (2) of Trajan: AD 98-117
- Sestertius of Hadrian: AD 117-138
- Sestertius of Antoninus Pius, Rome: AD 148-149
- As of Faustina II: AD 161-175
- Dupondius of Marcus Aurelius, Rome: AD 168-169
- Sestertius of Marcus Aurelius, Rome: AD 179

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 139.70.688

- Dish, 139.70.689

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 179 (Sestertius of Marcus Aurelius). The presence of three coins issued within c. AD 160-180 allows one to suggest a date of deposition shortly after the later coin. The suggested date is therefore c. AD 179-200. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 49 is earlier than Grave 48 (c. AD 244-260).

Grave 50: inhumation - c. AD 244-260, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- Sestertius of Antoninus Pius, Rome: AD 139
- Sestertius of Alexander Severus, Rome: AD 232
- Sestertius (?) Alexander of Severus, Rome: AD 231-235
- Sestertii (2) of Gordian III, Rome: AD 241-244
- Sestertius of Philippus I, Rome: AD 244-249

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 244-249 (Sestertius of Philippus I). The Sestertius of Antoninus Pius (AD 139) does not provide any evidence for dating. The other four coins have been issued within AD 232 and AD 244-249. The suggested date for the grave is therefore shortly after the later coin, c. AD 244-260. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 50 is later than Grave 76 (c. AD 163-180).

Grave 51: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 51 is later than Grave 55 (c. AD 235-250) and possibly contemporary to Grave 52.

Grave 52: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 52 is later than Grave 57 (c. AD 235-250) and possibly contemporary to Grave 51.

Grave 53: inhumation - c. AD 193-210, based on the following datable items:

The latest material is dated AD 193-196 (Dupondius of Julia Domna). The earlier coins do not provide any dating evidence for the grave. The presence of two coins issued within the period AD 180-196 allows one to suggest a date shortly after the later coin. The present writer would therefore suggest a date for the grave in the period c. AD 193-210.

Grave 54: inhumation

No grave-goods.

According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 54 is later than Grave 61 (c. AD 243-260).

Grave 55: inhumation - c. AD 235-250, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- Dupondius of Domitian: AD 81-96
- Sestertius of Hadrian : AD 117-138
- Dupondius of Antoninus Pius for Faustina I: after AD 141
- Sestertius of Antoninus Pius: AD 138-161

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 235 (Sestertius of Alexander Severus for Iulia Mamaea). The other coins do not provide any datable evidence for the Grave. The presence of three coins within the period AD 222/228-235 allows one to suggest a date of deposition shortly after the later coins. Two coins within the grave-goods were too worn and did not allow their identification. It is therefore possible that they could provide a later terminus post quem for the Grave. Failing of further information, I prefer not to consider them and suggest as date for the grave c. AD 235-250. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 55 is earlier than Grave 51 (no grave-goods).

Grave 56: inhumation

No grave-goods.

Grave 57: inhumation - c. AD 235-250, based on the following datable items:

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 235 (Sestertii of Alexander Severus for Iulia Mamaea). Most of the grave-goods do not provide any datable evidence. The presence of five coins issued within the period AD 219-235 allows one to suggest a date of deposition shortly after the later coin. The suggested date for the grave is therefore c. AD 235-250. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 57 is earlier than Grave 52 (no grave-goods).

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 231-235 (coins of Alexander Severus). The other coins were issued within the periods AD 98-161 and AD 175-192. The presence of two coins issued within AD 231-235 suggest a date of deposition shortly after the terminus post quem. The only grave-goods other than a coin does not clash with this dating. The present writer would therefore suggest a date for the grave in the period c. AD 231-250.

Most of datable grave-goods are coins, issued within the period AD 69/79-222/231. The fact that there is no relevant gap in-between allows one to suggest a date of deposition shortly after the later coin. The present writer would therefore suggest a date for the grave in the period c. AD 222-250.

- Jar, 139.70.787 (see Graue 1974, pl. 35 nos. 5-6, S. Bernardo Graves 123 and 86: 50-20 BC).

All datable grave-goods, except for a brooch, are coins. The latest material in the grave is dated AD 383-388 (Sestertius of Maximus). The other coins are earlier and were issued within AD 81/96-256/257 without any relevant gap in-between. Twenty-one coins, moreover, are issued within AD 222/231-256/257. A gap of over one-hundred years, however, occurs between AD 256-257 and AD 383-388. The presence of a later coin of Maximus is not clear. In the excavation report, however, there is no mention of the possibility of being intrusive. The terminus post quem of the grave is therefore AD 383-388 (Sestertius of Maximus). The suggested date of the grave is shortly after the terminus post quem, c. AD 383-400. The date, however, needs further consideration according to the coarse pottery in the grave. The chronological gap between AD 256-257 and AD 383-388 amounts to one-hundred years. In this case, a life-expectancy of 50 years for the later coin may need an extension.

Grave 61: inhumation - c. AD 243-260, based on the following datable items:

1. Brooch:

- Brooch, Ettlinger type 7 (Mesocco): 1st to 2nd century AD

2. Coins:

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 243-244 (Sestertius of Gordianus III). A further coin, which could provide another terminus post quem, is too worn and cannot be considered. The coins were issued within the period AD 98/117-243/244 without any relevant gap in-between. The presence of eighteen coins within AD 224-243/244 argues for a date of deposition shortly after the later coin. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 243-260. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 61 is earlier than Grave 54 (no grave-goods).

Grave 62: inhumation - c. AD 183-230, based on the following datable items:

1. Glass:

- Beaker, Isings Form 33: second half of 1st century AD

2. Brooch:

- Brooch, Ettlinger type 4: Flavian period

3. Coins:

- Dish, 139.70.806
- Dish, 139.70.807

Beaker and brooch belong to the second half of the 1st century AD; the coins are later. In particular, there is given a terminus post quem at AD 183 (Sestertius of Marcus Aurelius for Lucilla). In the excavation report, there does not occur any information about the possibility of being intrusive. The gap, however, between beaker and brooch and the Dupondius of Antoninus Pius, and the other gap between the latter and the Sestertius for Lucilla, may suggest that the date of deposition is not close to its terminus post quem. The present writer would therefore suggest a date for the grave in the period c. AD 183-230.

Grave 63: inhumation - c. AD 244-260, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- Sestertii (2) of Hadrian: AD 117-138
- Sestertii (3) of Antoninus Pius for Faustina I: after AD 141
- Dupondius of Faustina I: AD 138-141

The datable grave-goods are coins issued within the period AD 117/138-244/249. The presence of three coins within AD 235-244/249 argues for a date of deposition shortly after the later coin. The present writer would therefore suggest a date for the grave in the period c. AD 244-260.

Grave 64: inhumation

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none

Grave 65: inhumation

No grave-goods.

According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 65 is later than Grave 66 (c. AD 244-290).

Grave 66: inhumation - c. AD 244-290, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- Sestertii (2) of Trajan: AD 98-117
- As of Hadrian: AD 117-138
- Copper alloy coin of Faustina I (?): AD 138-141

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 139.70.838
- Dish, 139.70.829

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 244-249 (Sestertius of Otacilla Severa). The datable grave-goods are coins issued within the periods AD 98/117-141 and AD 180/192-244/249. The gap of over 50 years between the two later coins may argue for a date of deposition far from the terminus post quem. The suggested date for the grave is therefore c. AD 244-290. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 66 is earlier than Grave 65 (no grave-goods).

Grave 67: inhumation, destroyed by Graves 13 and 64 - c. AD 222-270, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- As of Severus Alexandrer: AD 222-235

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Bowl, 139.70.844
- Dish, 139.70.843

The only datable grave-good gives a terminus post quem at AD 222-235 (As of Severus Alexander). The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 222-270. Grave 67 is earlier than Graves 13 and 64, both without any grave-good.

Grave 68: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Closed form:

- Flagon, 139.70.848

Grave 69: inhumation, partly destroyed

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 69 is earlier than Grave 70 (no grave-goods).

Grave 70: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 70 is later than Graves 69 (no grave-goods) and 71(c. AD 168/69-200).

Grave 71: inhumation - c. AD 168/69-200, based on the following datable items:

1. Brooch:

- Brooch, Ettlinger Type 52 (Zangenfibel): late 2nd to 3rd century AD

2. Coins:

- Sestertius of Hadrian: AD 117-138

- Sestertius of Antoninus Pius: AD 138-161

- Sestertius of Marcus Aurelius, Rome: AD 168-169
- Sesterius Marcus Aurelius for Lucius Verus (?): AD 161-180

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

The latest material in this grave belongs to the period AD 168/169-161/180.

The suggested date is therefore c. AD 168/69- 200. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 71 is earlier than Grave 70 (no grave-goods).

Grave 72: inhumation

No grave-goods.

Grave 73: inhumation

No grave-goods.

According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 73 is later than Grave 74 (c. AD 253-270).

Grave 74: inhumation - c. AD 253-270, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- Sestertius of Trajan (?): AD 98-117
- Sestertius of Hadrian: AD 117-138
- Sestertii (2) of Sabina: AD 128-136
- Sestertius of Faustina I: AD 138-141
- Sestertii (2) of Antoninus Pius for Faustina I: after AD141
- Sestertii (2) of Antoninus Pius, Rome: AD 145-161
- Sestertii (4) of Antoninus Pius: AD 138-161

- Sestertii (2) of Marcus Aurelius for Faustina II: after AD 175
- Sestertius of Marcus Aurelius, Rome: AD 176-177
- Sestertii (2) of Marcus Aurelius: AD 161-180
- Copper alloy coin of Marcus Aurelius for Lucius Verus: AD 161-180
- Sesterius of Marcus Aurelius for Lucilla, Rome: AD 176-180
- Sestertii (2) of Commodus, Rome: AD 181-182
- Copper alloy coin of Commodus: AD 180-192
- Sestertius of Albinus, Rome: AD 194-195
- Sestertii (2) of Alexander Severus, Rome: AD 222-231
- Sestertius (3) of Alexander Severus, Rome: AD 231-235
- Sestertius of Alexander Severus for Iulia Mamaea, Rome: after AD 235
- Dupondius of Maximinus I, Rome: AD 235-236
- Dupondius of Maximinus I, Rome: AD 236-238
- As of Philippus I, Rome: AD 244-249
- As of Trajanus Decius, Rome: AD 249-251
- As of Gallienus: AD 253-268
- Copper alloy coin

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Bowl 139.70.867
- Dish 139.70.869

The datable grave-goods are coins issued within c. AD 98/117-253/268, without any relevant gap in-between. The presence of eleven coins within the period AD 222/231-253/268 argues for a date of deposition shortly after the later coin. A further coin, however, could provide other dating evidence, but it is too worn. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 253-270. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 74 is earlier than Grave 73 (no grave-goods).

Grave 75: inhumation - c. AD 383-400, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- Sestertius of Titus (?): AD 79-81
- Dupondius of Domitian: AD 81-96
- Sestertius of Trajan: AD 98-117
- Sestertii (2) of Hadrian: AD 117-138
- Sestertius of Antoninus Pius for Faustina I, Rome: AD 145-146
- Sesterius of Marcus Aurelius, Rome: AD 175-176
- Copper alloy coin of Marcus Aurelius (?): AD 161-180
- Sesterius of Marcus Aurelius for Antoninus Pius; Rome: AD 168-169
- Sestertius of Crispina: AD 183
- Sestertii (2) of Commodus, Rome: AD 180
- Sestertii (2) of Commodus, Rome: AD 186-187
- Copper alloy coin of Commodus: AD 180-192
- Sestertius of Maximinus I, Rome: AD 236-238
- Copper alloy coin of Maximus I: AD 383-388

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 139.70.875
- Dish, 139.70.876

- Dish, 139.70.877

The datable grave-goods are coins. Most of them may be grouped within the periods AD 79/81-145/146 and AD 161/180-180/192. Two other coins were issued in AD 236-238 and AD 338. Since in the excavation report there is no mention of possible intrusive coins, the the terminus post quem of the grave is AD 383-388 (coin of Maximus I). Therefore, one may assume a likely date for the grave shortly after its terminus post quem c. AD 383-400. As by Grave 60 with a similar situation, however, the date may need further consideration according to the coarse pottery in the grave. The chronological gap between AD 236-238 and AD 383-388 amounts to one-hundred years. In this case, a life-expectancy of 50 years for the later coin may need an extension.

Grave 76: inhumation - c. AD 163-180, based on the following datable items:

1. Glass:

- Beaker, Isings Form 35: second half of 1st century AD

2. Coins:

- Dupondius of Hadrian, Rome: AD 132-134
- Denarius of Antoninus Pius, Rome: AD 140
- As of Marcus Aurelius, Rome: AD 163-164
- Copper alloy coin

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar 139.70.882
- Bowl 139.70.886

The beaker belongs to the second half of the 1st century AD; the coins are later. There is given a terminus post quem at AD 163-164 (As of Marcus Aurelius). The presence of three coins within the period AD 132/143-163/164 argues for a date of deposition shortly after the later coin. The present writer would therefore suggest a date for the grave in the period c. AD 163-180. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 76 is earlier than Grave 50 (c. AD 244-260).

Grave 77: inhumation

No grave-goods.

According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 77 is later than Grave 81 (c. AD 193-220) and contemporary to Grave 78 (no grave-goods).

Grave 78: inhumation

No grave-goods.

According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 78 is later than Grave 79 (c. AD 236-250) and contemporary to Grave 77 (no grave-goods).

Grave 79: inhumation - c. AD 236-250, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- Sestertius of Hadrian: AD 117-138
- Copper alloy coin of Commodus: AD 180-192
- Sestertius of Alexander Severus, Rome: AD 231-235
- Sestertius of Alexander Severus for Iulia Mamaea, Rome: after AD 235
- Dupondius of Maximinus I, Rome: AD 236-238

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 139.70.894
- Bowl, 139.70.892
- Dish, 139.70.891

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 139.70.895

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 236-238 (Dupondius of Maximinus I). The coins of Hadrian and Commodus do not provide any dating evidence for the grave. The presence of three coins within the period AD 231/235-236/238 argues for a date of deposition shortly after the later coin. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 236-250. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 79 is earlier than Grave 78 (no grave-goods).

Grave 80: inhumation - c. AD 306-350, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- Copper alloy coins (2) of Constantinus I: AD 306-337 AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar, 139.70.898

The two datable grave-goods provide a terminus post quem at AD 306-337 (coins of Constantinus I). The suggested date for the grave is therefore c. AD 306-350.

Grave 81: inhumation, partly destroyed by the Graves 77 and 78 - c. AD 193-220, based on the following datable items:

1. Brooch:

- Brooch, Ettlinger Type 52 (Zangenfibel): late 2nd to 3rd century AD

2. Coins:

- Sestertius of Vespasian: AD 69-79
- Sestertii (2) of Hadrian: 117-138 AD
- Sestertius of Antoninus Pius for Faustina I: after AD 141
- Sestertius of Antoninus Pius, Rome: AD 155-156
- Sestertius of Antoninus Pius: AD 138-161
- Dupondius of Marcus Aurelius: AD 161-180 AD
- Copper alloy coin of Marcus Aurelius (?): AD 161-180
- Sestertius of Marcus Aurelius for Lucilla, Rome: AD 176-180
- Sestertii (2) of Commodus, Rome: AD 183-184
- Dupondius of Didius Iulianus: AD 193
- Sestertius of Septimius Severus: AD 193-211
- Copper alloy coin

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 139.70.914
- Dish, 139.70.904
- Dish, 139.70.902

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 139.70.901

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 193-211 (Sestertius of Septimius Severus). The other coins were issued within AD 69-76 and 193. The presence of two coins within AD 193-211 argues for a date of deposition shortly after the terminus post quem. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 193-220. The brooch also belongs to this period. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 81 is earlier than Graves 77 and 78 (both without any grave-good).

Grave 82: inhumation - c. AD 236-250, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- Sestertius of Trajan: AD 98-117
- Sestertii (3) of Hadrian: AD 117-138
- Sestertius of Antoninus Pius: 138-161 AD
- Sestertius of Antoninus Pius, Rome: AD 154-155
- Sesterii (2) of Antoninus Pius for Faustina I, Rome: AD 161
- Sestertii (2) of Faustina II: AD 161
- Dupondius of Marcus Aurelius: AD 161-180
- Sestertius of Marcus Aurelius: AD 161-180 AD
- Sestertius of Marcus Aurelius: AD 171-172
- Sestertii (2) of Marcus Aurelius: AD 172-173
- Sestertii (2) of Marcus Aurelius, Rome: AD 174-175
- Sestertius of Marcus Aurelius for Antoninus Pius, Rome: AD 179-180
- Sestertius of Commodus: AD 180-192
- Copper alloy coins (2) of Commodus: AD 180-192
- Sestertius of Septimius Severus: AD 193-211

- Sestertius of Caracalla, Rome: AD 196-197
- Sestertius of Caracalla, Rome: AD 213
- Sestertius of Iulia Domna, Rome: AD 193-196
- Sestertius of Alexander Severus, Rome: AD 222-231
- Dupondius of Alexander Severus, Rome: AD 229
- Sestertius of Alexander Severus: AD 222-235
- Sestertius of Alexander Severus, Rome: AD 231-235
- Copper alloy coin of Iulia Maesa: AD 223
- Dupondii (2) of Maximinus I: AD 235-238
- Sestertius of Maximinus I, Rome: AD 236-238
- Sestertius of ?

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar 139.70.924

The datable grave-goods are coins issued within AD 98-117 and AD 236-238 without any relevant gap in-between. A further coin, which could provide another terminus post quem, is to worn. The presence of eight coins within the period AD 222/231-236/238 argues for a date of deposition shortly after the later coin. The present writer would therefore suggest a date for the grave in the period c. AD 236-250.

Grave 83: inhumation, partly destroyed by Grave 86 - c. AD 306-350, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- Copper alloy coins (3) of Constantinus I: AD 306-337

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 306-337 (coins of Constantinus I).

The suggested date for the grave is therefore c. AD 306-350. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 83 is earlier than Grave 86 (c. AD 361-380).

Grave 84: inhumation, partly destroyed by the roots of an oak tree

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

Grave 85: inhumation, partly destroyed by the roots of an oak tree - c. AD 351-370, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- Copper alloy coins (2) of Constantius II: AD 322-361
- Copper alloy coin of Magnentius: AD 350-353
- Copper alloy coins of Decentius: AD 351-353
- Copper alloy coin

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Bowl, 139.70.954
- Dish, 139.70.953

There is provided a terminus post quem at AD 351-353 (coin of Decentius). The presence of three coins within the period AD 322-361 argues for a date of deposition after the later coin, c. AD 351-370. A further coin is too worn and could not be identified.

Grave 86: inhumation - c. AD 361-380, based on the following datable items:

1. Brooch:

- Brooch, Ettlinger Type 52 (Zangenfibel): 2nd to 3rd century AD

2. Coins:

- Copper alloy coins (2) of Constantinus I: AD 306-337
- Copper alloy coins (3) of Constantinopolis: AD 306-361
- Copper alloy coin

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

There is provided a terminus post quem at AD 306-361 (coins of Constantinopolis). The presence of five coins within the period AD 306-361 argues for a date of deposition after the later coin, c. AD 361-380. A further coin is too worn and could not be identified. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 86 is later than Grave 83 (c. AD 306-350).

Grave 87: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

Grave 88: inhumation - c. AD 25-75, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 23: AD 25-75
- Dish, fragment of ring foot

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Thin walled beaker, 39.72.41

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 139.72.38

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is the first quarter of the 1st century AD (Donati 1974, 75). The datable grave-goods belong to the period c. AD 25-75. The present writer agrees with a date of the grave as suggested in the literature.

Grave 89: inhumation, partly destroyed by Grave 90

No grave-goods.

According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 89 is earlier than Grave 90 (c. AD 98-140).

Grave 90: inhumation - c. AD 98-140, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- As of Trajan: AD 98-117

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Cup, 139.70.984

- Jar, 139.70.985

The only datable grave-good provides a terminus post quem at AD 98-117 (As of Trajan). The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 98-140. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 90 is later than Grave 89 (no grave-goods).

Grave 91: inhumation - c. AD 25-75, based on the following datable items:

1. Black slip pottery:

- Fragments

2. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 36: Tiberian period

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is the first quarter of the 1st century (Donati 1974, 75). The datable material belongs to the early 1st century AD. The suggested date of the Grave is c. AD 25-75.

Grave 92: inhumation - c. AD 70-120, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period

- Cup, Conspectus Form 34: late Tiberian to Flavian period

- Cup, Conspectus Form 49: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

- Dish, Conspectus Form ?

2. Glass:

- Dish, Isings Form 42: second half of 1st century AD

- Bottle, Isings Form 50a: second half of 1st century AD

- Beaker, see Isings Form 33, but not same Form: second half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Closed forms:

- Flagon, 139.72.47

- Flagon, 139.72.46

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is the 3rd quarter of the 1st century AD (Donati 1974, 77). The group may belong in Flavian times. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 70-120.

Grave 93: inhumation - c. AD 173-200, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, fragment of foot

- Dish, similar to Conspectus Form 39: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

2. Glass:

- Cup or beaker, fragment of foot

3. Coins:

- Dupondius of Domitian: AD 81-96
- Dupondius of Trajan, Rome: AD 98-99
- Dupondii (2) of Trajan: AD 98-117
- Dupondius of Trajan, Rome: AD 104-117
- Dupondius of Marcus Aurelius, Rome: AD 173-174
- Denarius of Lucilla, Rome: AD 164-182 (?)

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Bowl 139.72.64

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is the first quarter of the 2nd century AD (Donati 1974, 78). There is given a terminus post quem at AD 173-174 (Dupondius of Marcus Aurelius). The fact that most of the datable material in this grave is over 60 years earlier than the latest coin argues for the material being used as one group and highlights the life-expectancy of datable grave-goods. The presence of another coin issued within AD 164-182 argues for a date of deposition shortly after the later coin. The present writer would therefore prefer a date for the grave in the period c. AD 173-200. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 93 is later than Grave 3 (c. AD 50-100).

Grave 94: inhumation - c. AD 79-130, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period
- Cup, Conspectus Form 34: late Tiberian to Flavian period

- Cup, Conspectus Form 4.2/36: second half of 1st century AD

2. Glass:

- Balsamarium, IsingsForme 28a: second half of 1st century AD
- Dish, Isings Form 46: second half of 1st century AD
- Jug, Isings Form 52c: second half of 1st century AD
- Trulla, Isings Form 75b: second half of 1st century AD

3. Brooch:

- Nauheim brooch, Ettlinger type 1: 75-20 BC

4. Coins:

- As of Titus (?): AD 79-81
- Copper alloy coin

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is the third quarter of the 1st century AD (Donati 1974, 82). Most of datable material belongs to Flavian times. There is given a terminus post quem at AD 79-81 (As of Titus). The suggested date for the group is therefore c. AD 79-130. A further coin is to worn and does not provide any dating evidence.

Grave 95: inhumation

No grave-goods.

Grave 96: inhumation - c. AD 161/62-200, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- Sestertius of Marcus Aurelius, Rome: AD 161-162

Coarse/thin walled pottery

1. Open form:

- Jar, 139.72.91

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is the fourth quarter of the 2nd century AD (Donati 1974, 82). There is given a terminus post quem at AD 161-162 (Sestertius of Marcus Aurelius). The suggested date for the grave is therefore c. AD 161/62-200.

Grave 97: inhumation - c. AD 50-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period
- Dish, similar to Conspectus Form 4: Tiberian to Claudian period

2. Glass:

- One-handled cup, Isings Form?
- Jug, Isings Form 52a: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coins:

- Copper alloy coin

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar, 139.72.104

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 139.72.100

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is the third quarter of the 1st century AD (Donati 1974, 84). The probable date of sigillata and glass is in Tiberio-Flavian times. Therefore, the suggested date of deposition is c. AD 50-100.

Papöгна

Grave 1: inhumation

Datable items: none

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 139.54.1
- Dish, 139.54.2

Grave 2: inhumation - c. AD 182-200, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 36: Augustan to Tiberian period

2. Coins:

- Sestertius of Trajan: AD 98-117
- Sestertius of Sabina: AD 136
- Sestertius of Lucilla: AD 182
- Sestertii (3) of Commodus: AD 180-192

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Bowl, 139.54.8

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 182-192 (Sestertii of Commodus). Most of the other datable grave-goods are much earlier and constitute a group without any evidence for dating. The presence of four coins issued within the period AD 180-192 argues for a date of deposition shortly after the later coin. The present writer would therefore suggest a date for the grave in the period c. AD 182-200.

List of items

The lack of associations among the items excavated in 1934 does not allow one to reconstruct the grave contents.

A limited number of items, however, bears some information about the grave number:

Grave 1:

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Fragments

2. Closed forms:

- Flagon, 1944.1

Minusio, property Scascighini (1945)

Grave 1: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

Grave 2: inhumation - c. AD 20-70, based on the following datable items:

1. Brooches:

- Long-spiral brooches (3), Ettlinger Type 6 (Armbrustfibel): late La Tène to AD 50
- Aucissa-brooch, Ettlinger Type 29: 25 BC to AD 50

- Brooch Type Misox, Ettlinger Type 6: 1st and 2nd century AD

2. Bronze vessel:

- Pan: Late Augustan to first half of 2nd century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 1945.67
- Thin walled beaker, 1945.50

Most grave-goods belong within the period c. 20 BC-AD 50. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 20-70.

Grave 3: inhumation - c. AD 0-30, based on the following datable items:

1. Black slip pottery:

- Fragment: Augustan period

2. Bronze:

- Armlet (see Stöckly 1975, 92-94: "Serpentinenarmring", late La Tène D)

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 1945.69 (see Stöckly 1975, 92-94: "Wellentonne", late La Tène D)

2. Closed forms:

- Fragment of flagon (neck), 1945.52

The datable grave-goods belong within the end of La Tène and the Augustan period. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 0-30.

Grave 4: inhumation - c. AD 10-50, based on the following datable items:

1. Black slip pottery:

- Fragments of foot ring (2): Augustan period

2. Bronze vessel:

- Pan: Late Augustan to first half of 2nd century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Closed forms:

- Flagon, 1945.70
- Fragment of flagon (neck), 1945.49

The datable grave-goods belong within the Augustan period. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 10-50.

Grave 5: inhumation The items were listed by Crivelli (1946b) only. - c. AD 0-30, based on the following datable items:

1. Black slip pottery:

- Cup
- Fragment

2. Italian Sigillata:

- Fragments (3)

3. Brooch:

- Long-spiral brooch, Ettlinger Type 6 (Armbrustfibel): late La Tène to AD 50

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Cup
- Cup (?), fragment with black wash
- Jar (?)
- Fragments

The only datable grave-good belongs to the end of La Tène and the first half of the 1st century AD. There are also two fragments of Campanian ware. The suggested date for the grave is therefore c. AD 0-30.

Minusio, property Bonfanti (1945)

Grave 1: rite unknown - c. AD 10-50, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (2), Conspectus Form 14: middle to late Augustan period
- Aco-beaker: CREATVS . T . RVBRI : late Augustan period

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

The datable grave-goods belong to the late Augustan period. The suggested date for the grave is therefore c. AD 10-50.

Minusio, property Mondada (1946)

Grave 1: cremation (?)

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar no. 2
- Jar no. 3 (contained in jar no. 2)
- Two-handled bowl no. 1

Minusio, property Cadra (1936)

Grave 1: inhumation - c. AD 180-230, based on the following datable items:

1. Brooch:

- Brooch, Ettlinger Type 52 (Zangenfibel): late 2nd to 3rd century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Bowl, 1936.54
- Dish, 1936.56
- Dish, 1936.90

The only datable grave-good belongs to the end of the 2nd and the 3rd century AD. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 180-230.

Grave 2: cremation - c. AD 40-90, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 49: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD
- Dish, Conspectus Form 4: late Augustan to Claudian period

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Beaker, 1936.734

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 1936.731

The latest material belongs within the period between the second half of the 1st and the first half of the 2nd century AD. Another grave-good is datable within the Claudian period. The suggested date of the grave is c. AD 40-90.

Grave 3: cremation

Datable items:

1. Lamp:

- Bronze lamp, Leibundgut 1977, pl. 20: 1st and 2nd century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Lid, 1936.945

The only datable grave-good generally belongs to the 1st and 2nd century AD. It is therefore impossible to suggest a closer date for the grave without to consider the coarse pottery.

Grave 4: inhumation - c. AD 0-30, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (2), Conspectus Form 22: 80 BC to Tiberian period
- Cup, Conspectus Form 23: AD 25-75
- Cup, Conspectus Form 24: mid-Augustan to Tiberian period
- Dishes (4), Conspectus Form 20: mid-1st century AD

2. Glass:

- Millefiori cup, Isings Form 1: first half of 1st century AD
- "Marble" cup, Isings Form 3: first half of 1st century AD
- Balsamaria (5), Isings Form 6: first half of 1st century AD
- Balsamaria (17), Isings Form 6/28a: first half of 1st century AD

3. Lamp:

- Lamp, Leibundgut 1977, Type 5: 1st century AD

4. Coins:

- Denarius of C. Naevius Balbo, Rome, 79 BC
- Quinarius of M. Antonius and Lepidus, Gallia Transalpina et Cisalpina, 43-42 BC
- As of Augustus, Rome, 16 BC
- As of Augustus, Rome, 6 BC
- Copper alloy coin

5. Brooches:

- Long-spiral brooches (3), Ettlinger 1973, Type 6 (Armbrustfibel): late La Tène to AD 50
- Aucissa-brooch, Ettlinger 1973, Type 29 : 25 BC- AD 50

6. Bronze vessels:

- Pan: Augustan period to 2nd century AD
- Dish: Augustan period to 2nd century AD
- Jug, similar to Isings Form 53-54 (second half of first century AD)

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 1936.178
- Thin walled cup, 1936.181
- Thin walled cup, 1936.211
- Thin walled cup, 1936.260
- Jar, 1936.343
- Bowl, 1936.207

2. Closed forms:

- Flagon, 1936.204
- Flagon, 1936.205

The latest datable material belongs within the first half of the 1st century AD. The four coins are Late Republican or Early Imperial but seem not to provide a terminus post quem for the grave. Most of the grave-goods, however, already occur during the end of the 1st century BC. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 0-30.

Grave 5: inhumation - c. AD 0-30, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (4), Conspectus Form 22: 80 BC to Tiberian period

- Cup, Conspectus Form 23: AD 25-75
- Dishes (2), Conspectus Form 20: mid-1st century AD
- Fragment with rectangular stamp

2. Glass:

- Beaker, Isings Form 4: first half of first century AD
- Balsamaria (3), Isings Form 6: first half of 1st century AD
- Balsamaria (8), Isings Form 6/28a: first half of 1st century AD
- Bird, Isings Form 11: 1st half of first century AD
- Rod, Isings Form 79: second half of first century AD

3. Coins:

- Quinarius of Lucius Piso Frugi, Rome, 90 BC
- Quinarius of Cn . Cornelius Lentulus, Rome, 88 BC
- As of Augustus, Rome, 15 BC

4. Brooches:

- Brooch, Ettlinger Type 8 (Knotenfibel): 40 BC- AD 20
- Brooch, Ettlinger Type 28-31: 1st century AD
- Brooch, similar to Aucissa, Ettlinger Type 29: 25 BC- AD 50

5. Bronze vessel:

- Bucket: Augustan period to 2nd century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 1936.518
- Thin walled cup, 1936.660
- Beaker, 1936.236
- Beaker, 1936.265

- Bowl with lid, 1936.324a and 1936.324b

2, Closed forms:

- Flagon, 1936.255
- Flagon, 1936.256
- Flagon, 1936.263
- Flagon, 1936.708

Grave 5 contained grave-goods similar to those of Grave 4. Also here the three coins seem not to provide a terminus post quem for the grave. For the reasons as above, the suggested date of the grave is c. AD 0-30.

Grave 6: inhumation - c. AD 40-90, based on the following datable items:

1. Glass

- Balsamaria (2), Isings Form 10: first half of 1st century AD
- Swan, Isings Form 11: first half of 1st century AD
- Balsamarium, Isings Form 78: second half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Closed form:

- Flagon, 1936.480

The latest datable material belongs in the second half of the 1st century AD.

The other grave-goods are earlier. A suggested date for the grave is therefore c. AD 40-90.

Grave 7: cremation - c. AD 70-120, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 43: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD
- Dish, Conspectus Form 39: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

2. Lamp:

- Lamp, Leibundgut Type 26 (Firmalampe): late 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 1936.444
- Bowl, fragments; 1936.717d, associated to lid 1936.717c
- Lid, 1936.717c, associated to bowl 1936.717d

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 1936. 443

The latest datable material belongs to the late 1st century AD. Two other datable grave-goods are slightly earlier. The suggested date of the grave is c. AD 70-120.

Grave 8: cremation - c. AD 50-80, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 39: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar, fragments, 1936.456

The only datable grave-good belongs to the second half of the 1st century AD. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 8 is earlier than Grave 14 (c. AD 70-120). The present writer would therefore suggest a date for the grave in the period c. AD 50-80.

Grave 9: inhumation - c. AD 40-90, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 20 (?): mid-1st century AD

2. Coin:

- Copper alloy coin of Tiberius: 14-37 AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Thin walled cup, 1936.315

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 1936.304

The latest datable material belongs to mid-1st century AD. There is given a terminus post quem at 14-37 AD (coin of Tiberius). The suggested date of the grave is c. 40-90.

Grave 10: inhumation - c. AD 10-30 (?), based on the following datable items:

1. Brooches:

- Fragment of Aucissa-brooch, Ettlinger Type 29: 25 BC-AD 50
- Fragment, Ettlinger Type 28: 25 BC- AD 50

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup with two handles, 1936.388
- Beaker, 1936.316

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 1936.479

The datable material belongs within the end of the 1st century BC and the 1st half of the 1st century AD. A closer date of the grave will be possible considering the coarse and thin walled pottery (c. AD 10-30?).

Grave 11: inhumation - c. AD 77/78-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (3), Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period
- Cups (6) , Conspectus Form 34: Late Tiberian to Flavian period, rare later
- Dish, Conspectus Form 4(?): late Augustan to Claudian period
- Dishes (2), Conspectus Form 20: mid-1st century AD
- Dish, Conspectus Form 39: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

2. Glass

- Cup, Isings Form 3: first half of 1st century AD
- Balsamarium, Isings Form 10: first half of 1st century AD
- Swans (2), Isings Form 11: first half of 1st century AD
- Bottle, Isings Form 14: first half of 1st century AD
- Bottle, Isings Form 50b: second half of 1st century AD
- Jugs (2), Isings Form 56: second half of 1st century AD
- Rod, Isings Form 79: second half of 1st century AD
- Balsamaria (2), Isings Form 82 (?): 2nd century AD

3. Coin:

- As of Vespasian, Rome, AD 77-78

4. Bronze vessels:

- Pan. Augustan period to 2nd century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled beaker, 1936.458
- Beaker, 1936.528
- Bowl, 1936.317

The latest datable material belongs in Flavian times. Most of the datable grave-goods, however, are earlier. The presence of an As of Vespasian (AD 77-78) allows one to suggest as date for the group c. AD 77/78-100.

Grave 12: inhumation - c. AD 73-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (8), Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period
- Cup, Conspectus Form 34: Late Tiberian to Flavian period, rare later
- Cup, Conspectus Form 43: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD
- Dish, Conspectus Form 20: mid-1st century AD

2. Glass:

- Beaker, Isings Form 12: first half of 1st century AD
- Balsamarium, Isings Form 8: first half of 1st century AD
- Balsamaria (3), Isings Form 28: second half of 1st century AD
- Bottle, Isings Form 50a: second half of 1st century AD
- Balsamarium, Isings Form 82 (?): 2nd century AD

3. Coins:

- As of Nero (?), Rome, AD 54-68
- As of Vespasian for Domitian, Rome, AD 73-79
- Copper alloy coins (2)

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled beaker, 1936.812
- Bowl, 1936.392

The latest material belongs in Flavian times but some grave-goods are earlier.

There is also given a terminus post quem at AD 73-79 (As of Vespasian for Domitian). For the reasons as above, the suggested date for the grave is c. AD 73-100.

Grave 13: cremation - c. AD 20-70, based on the following datable items:

1. Coin:

- As of Tiberius for Augustus, Rome: AD 14-15

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled beaker, 1936.636
- Jar, 1936.350

The only datable grave-good is dated AD 14-15 (As of Tiberius for Augustus). It may provide a terminus post quem for the grave but there are not sufficient elements to suggest a closer date. According to the vertical stratigraphy, however, Grave 13 is earlier than Grave 14 (c. AD 70-120). The present writer would therefore suggest a date for the grave in the period c. AD 20-70.

Grave 14: inhumation - c. AD 70-120, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (2), Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period
- Cup, Conspectus Form 34: Late Tiberian to Flavian period, rare later
- Dish, Conspectus Form 4: Late Augustan to Claudian period
- Dishes (2), Conspectus Form 20: mid-1st century AD
- Dish, Conspectus Form 40: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

2. Glass:

- Balsamarium, Isings Form 6: first half of 1st century AD
- Balsamaria (25), Isings Form 8: first half of 1st century AD
- Balsamaria (4), Isings Form 10: first half of 1st century AD
- Swans (4), Isings Form 11: first half of 1st century AD
- Bottle, Isings Form 14: first half of 1st century AD
- Bottle, Isings Form 55a: second half of 1st century AD
- Balsamaria (2), similar to Isings Form 71: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coin:

- Copper alloy coin

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 1936.372
- Beaker, 1936.459
- Beaker, 1936.680
- Jar, 1936.637

The latest datable material belongs in Flavian times. Most of the datable grave-goods, however, are earlier. The suggested date for the grave is therefore c. AD 70-120. According to the vertical stratigraphy, Grave 14 is later than Grave 8 and Grave 13.

Grave 15: inhumation - c. AD 60-110, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 27: Tiberian to Neronian period

- Cups (2), Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period
- Dish, Conspectus Form 4: Late Augustan to Claudian period
- Dish, Conspectus Form 20: mid-1st century AD
- Dish, Conspectus Form 40: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD
- Fragment

2. Glass:

- Balsamaria (3), Isings Form 6: first half of 1st century AD
- Balsamarium, Isings Form 10: first half of 1st century AD
- Balsamarium, Isings Form 26: second half of 1st century AD
- Amphorisk, Isings Form 15: first half of 1st century AD

3. Lamp:

- Lamp, Ettlinger Type 5: 1st century AD

4. Coin:

- As of Augustus, Rome, 16-6 BC

5. Brooches:

- Long-spiral brooches (2), Ettlinger Type 6 (Armbrust fibel): late La Tène to AD 50
- Brooch, Ettlinger Type 39-42 (Scheibenfibel): AD 20-80

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 1936.482
- Thin walled beaker, 1936.414

2. Closed forms:

- Flagon, 1936.696

- Flagon, 1936.788

The latest datable material belongs to the period c. AD 50-150. Most of the grave-goods, however, belong within the period c. AD 15-50. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 60-110.

Grave 16: inhumation - c. AD 15-50, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 22: 80 BC to Tiberian period
- Cup, Conspectus Form 27: Tiberian to Neronian period

2. Coin:

- Drusus: 23 AD

3. Brooches:

- Long-spiral brooches (2), Ettlinger 1973, Type 6 (Armbrustfibel): late La Tène to AD 50

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled beaker, 1936.506
- Thin walled beaker, 1936.516

2. Closed forms:

- Flagon, 1936.510
- Flagon, 1936.536

The grave-goods belong within c. AD 15-50. The suggested date for the grave is in the same period.

Grave 17: cremation

No grave-goods.

Grave 18: cremation - 1st century AD, based on the following datable items:

1. Terracotta:

- Terracotta figure: 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

The terracotta figure is generally dated to the 1st century AD. No further element allows one to suggest a closer date for the grave.

Grave 19: inhumation - c. AD 70-120, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 46: Flavian to 1st half of 2nd century AD

2. Glass:

- Dish, Isings Form 46: second half of 1st century AD

- Fragments

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled beaker, 1936.677

- Jar, 1936.641

The datable grave-goods belongs within Flavian times. The suggested date of the grave is c. AD 70-120.

Grave 20: cremation - c. AD 81-130, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 39: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century

AD

2. Coin:

- As of Domitian: AD 81-96

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 1936.580a
- Jar, 1936.981a
- Jar, fragments, 1936.981b

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 81-96 (As of Domitian). The suggested date of the grave is c. AD 81-130.

Grave 21: cremation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar, 1936.883

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 1936.681

Grave 22: cremation - c. AD 80-130, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 43: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century

AD

- Cup, Conspectus Form 49: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century

AD

2. Glass:

- Fragments

3. Lamp:

- Lamp by FORTIS, Leibundgut 1977, Type 26 (Firmalampe): late 1st

century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

The probable date of the sigillata and the lamp is c. AD 80-130. The suggested date for the grave is the same period.

Grave 23: inhumation - c. AD 50-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 43: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd

century AD

- Dish, Conspectus Form 39: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd

century AD

2. Glass:

- Birds (2), Isings Form 11: first half of 1st century AD

- Bottle, Isings Form 50a: second half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Bowl, 1936.651a

- Bowl, 1936.651b

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 1936.655

Most of datable grave-goods belong in the second half of the 1st century AD.

One grave-good already occurs during the first half of the same century. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 50-100.

Grave 24: inhumation - firsthalf of the 1st century AD

Datable items:

1. Glass:

- Balsamarium, Isings Form 6: firsthalf of 1st century AD

2. Brooch:

- Fragments, Type: ?

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Thin walled cup, 1936.831

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 1936.873

The only datable grave-good generally belongs to the first half of the 1st century AD. No further element allows one to suggest a closer date for the grave.

Grave 25: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar, 1936.810

2. Closed forms:

- Flagon with graffito PVI I, 1936.829
- Flagon, 1936.963

Grave 26: inhumation - c. AD 161-210, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 36: Tiberian period, rare until end 1st century AD

2. Lamp:

- Lamp by FORTIS, Leibundgut 1977, Type 26 (Firmalampe): late 1st century AD

3. Coin:

- Copper alloy coin of Marcus Aurelius: AD 161-180

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 1936.768
- Jar, 1936.769

- Dish, 1936.770

The latest material in the grave is generally dated AD 161-180 (coin of Marcus Aurelius). The sigillata cup and the lamp belong to the second half of the 1st century AD. In the literature there is no mention about the possibility for the coin of being intrusive. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 161-210.

Grave 27: cremation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar, 1936.1254

Grave 28: inhumation - c. AD 50-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (7), Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period

- Cup, Conspectus Form 34: Late Tiberian to Flavian period, rare later

- Dishes (2), Conspectus Form 20: mid-1st century AD

2. Anthropomorphic vase:

- Beaker: Augustan period

3. Glass:

- Balsamaria (2), Isings Forms 6: first half of 1st century AD

- Balsamaria (7), Isings Form 8: first half of 1st century AD

- Beaker, Isings Form 12: first half of 1st century AD

- Flask, Isings Form 16: first half of 1st century AD
- Cups (2), Isings Form 41: second half of 1st century AD
- Dish, Isings Form 46: second half of 1st century AD
- Bottle, Isings Form 52: second half of 1st century AD
- Bottle (exagonal in section), Isings Form ?

4. Lamp:

- Lamp, Leibundgut Type 5: 1st century AD

5. Coins:

- Quinarius of M. Porcius Cato, Rome, 89 BC
- As of Augustus (?): 31 BC- AD 14

6. Bronze vessel:

- Pan: Augustan period to 2nd century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 1936.1146
- Thin walled beaker, 1936.1047

The latest datable material belongs to the second half of the 1st century AD. The two coins, a Republican one and a probable As of Augustus, may not bear any dating evidence because they are too early in comparison with the glass ware. The fact, that most of datable grave-goods still belong to the first half of the 1st century AD allows one to suppose as date for the group c. AD 50-100.

Grave 29: cremation - c. AD 50-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Glass:

- Cup, Isings Form 42: second half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Closed form:

- Flagon, 1936.1202

The only datable grave-good dates to the second half of the 1st century AD.

The suggested date for the grave is c. AD 50-100.

Grave 30: cremation

No grave-goods.

Grave 31: inhumation - c. AD 54-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (13), Conspectus Form 43: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD
- Dishes (3); Conspectus Form 20: mid-1st century AD

2. Glass:

- Cups (2), Isings Form 41: second half of 1st century AD
- Cups (4), Isings Form 42: second half of 1st century AD
- Cup, Isings Form 44: second half of 1st century AD
- Dishes (2), Isings Form 46: second half of 1st century AD
- Bottles (3), Isings Form 50: second half of 1st century AD
- Bottles (2), Isings Form 51a: second half of 1st century AD

- Jug, Isings Form 56a: second half of 1st century AD
- Jar, Isings Form 62: second half of 1st century AD
- Balsamaria (2), Isings Form 82 (?): 2nd century AD

3. Coin:

- As of Nero (?): AD 54-68

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled beaker, 1936.1147
- Beaker, 1936.994
- Bowl, 1936.1048

Most of datable grave-goods belong to the second half of the 1st century AD. There is also given a terminus post quem at AD 54-68 (As of Nero). The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 54-

Grave 32: inhumation - c. AD 69-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Lamp:

- Lamp, Leibundgut 1997, Type 26: late 1st century AD

2. Coin

- Copper alloy coin of Vespasian: AD 69-79

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 69-79 (coin of Vespasian). The other datable grave-good belongs to the same period. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 69-100.

Grave 33: inhumation - c. AD 70-120, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 27: Tiberian to Neronian period
- Cup, Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period
- Cups (3), Conspectus Form 34: Late Tiberian to Flavian period, rare later
- Cups (2), Conspectus Form 43: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD
- Cup, Conspectus Form 46: Flavian period to first half of 2nd century AD
- Dishes (3), Conspectus Form 20: mid-1st century AD
- Dish, Conspectus Form 39: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

2. Glass:

- Balsamarium, Isings Form 28: second half of 1st century AD
- Beaker, Isings Form 33: second half of 1st century AD
- Cup, Isings Form 42: second half of 1st century AD
- Bottle, Isings Form 50b: second half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 1936.1233
- Thin walled cup, 1936.1248
- Thin walled beaker, 1936.1022
- Bowl, 1936.1010

Most of the datable material belongs to the second half of the 1st century AD. Other grave-goods date to c. AD 25-75. The suggested date for the grave is c. AD 70-120.

Moghegno

Grave 1: inhumation - c. AD 161-200, based on the following datable items:

1. Coin:

- Copper alloy coin, Marcus Aurelius or Lucius Verus or Commodus: AD 161-192

Coarse/thin walled pottery

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 164.94.1
- Fragments, 164.94.5

The only datable grave-good is a coin not clearly identified. It may provide a wide terminus post quem for the grave, between AD 161 and AD 192. A possible date of the grave is therefore c. AD 161-210, or even later.

Grave 2: inhumation

Datable items:

1. Glass:

- Fragments

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 164.94.6
- Fragments, 164.94.201
- Fragments, 164.94.202
- Fragments, 164.94.203

Grave 3: inhumation - c. AD 117-150, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 34: Late Tiberian to Flavian period frequent, rare later
- Dish, Conspectus Form 3: before mid-1st to second half of 1st century AD

2. Glass:

- Fragments

3. Coins:

- Copper alloy coin of Vespasian: AD 69-79
- Copper alloy coin of Hadrian: AD 117-138

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 164.94.11

The latest datable material is generally dated AD 117-138 (coin of Hadrian). The other datable grave-goods are earlier. Sigillata and the coin of Vespasian (AD 69-79) suggest a date for the group in Flavian times. In the excavation report there is no mention about the possibility for the later coin of being intrusive. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 117-150.

Grave 4: inhumation - c. AD 149-200, based on the following datable items:

1. Glass:

- Fragments

2. Coins:

- Sestertius of Hadrian, Rome: AD 121
- Copper alloy coin of Marcus Aurelius, Rome: AD 149

Coarse/thin walled pottery

1. Open form:

- Jar, 164.94.19

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 164.94.20

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 149 (coin of Marcus Aurelius). The suggested date of the grave is c. AD 149-200.

Grave 5: inhumation - c. AD 80/81-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Forms 4: Tiberian to Claudian period

2. Coins:

- As of Titus for Vespasian, Rome: AD 80-81

Coarse/thin walled pottery

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 164.94.28

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 90-130 (Biaggio Simona 1995, 62). There is given a terminus post quem at AD 80-81 (As of Titus for Vespasian). The other datable grave-good is slightly earlier. The present writer would therefore prefer c. AD 80/81-100 as date for the grave.

6/1 and 6/2: were small holes and contained each a single item.

6/1: Pick.

6/2: Jar, 164.94.34

Grave 7: inhumation - c. AD 40-90, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 4.2/36: Tiberian period, rare until end of 1st century AD

2. Glass:

- Bottle, Isings Form 50a: second half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 164.94.38

- Jar, 164.94.37

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 80-130 (Biaggio Simona 1995, 64). The datable material allows one to suggest as date for the group c. AD 40-90. The present writer agrees therefore with a date in the same period as in the literature.

Grave 8: inhumation - c. AD 85/86-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 39: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century

AD

- Flagon, Conspectus rim's Form K1-2

2. Coins:

- As of Domitian, Rome: AD 85-86

3. Brooches:

- Brooch, Ettlinger 1973, Form 42.1: AD 30-50

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 164.94.44

- Jar, 164.94.43

- Jug, 164.94.45

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 90-140 (Biaggio Simona 1995, 66). There is given a terminus post quem at AD 85-86 (As of Domitian). The other datable grave-goods allows one to suggest a date for the grouping within AD 50-100. The present writer would therefore prefer c. AD 85/86-100 as date of the grave.

Grave 9: inhumation - c. AD 20-70, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 4.2/36: Tiberian period

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 164.94.54

The only datable grave-good belongs in Tiberian times. The suggested date of the grave is c. AD 20-70.

Grave 10: inhumation - c. AD 180-200, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- Copper alloy coin of Lucius Verus (?): AD 161-169
- Copper alloy coin of Commodus (?): AD 180-192

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 164.94.59

If the coins have been correctly identified, there is given a terminus post quem at AD 180-192 (coin of Commodus). The presence of another coin about ten years younger allows one to suggest a date for the grave within c. AD 180-200.

Grave 11: inhumation - c. AD 85/86-120, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 3: before mid-1st to second half 1st century AD
- Cup, Conspectus Forms 3: before mid-1st to second half 1st century AD

2. Glass:

- Cup, Isings Forms 32: second half of 1st century AD
- Bottle, Isings Form 51: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coins:

- As of Domitian, Rome: AD 85-86

3. Brooches:

- Nauheim brooch, Ettlinger 1973, Type 1: 75-0 BC

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 164.94.72

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 90-130 (Biaggio Simona 1995, 70).

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 85-86 (As of Domitian). Most of the other datable grave-goods belong in the second half of the 1st century AD.

The suggested date for the grave is therefore c. AD 85/86-120.

Grave 12: inhumation - c. AD 81-120, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 43: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

- Dish, Conspectus Form 4.2/36: Tiberian period

2. Glass:

- Beaker, Isings Form 12: first half of 1st century AD

- Bottle, Isings Form 51a: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coin:

- Copper alloy coin of Domitian: AD 81-96

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar, 164.94.83

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 164.94.84

- Fragments, 164.94.92

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 100-140 (Biaggio Simona 1995, 74). There is given a terminus post quem at AD 81-96 (coin of Domitian). The other datable grave-goods belong partly in Tiberian times, partly in the second half of the 1st century AD. The present writer would therefore prefer c. AD 81-120 as date for the grave.

Grave 13: inhumation - c. AD 20-70, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 4.2/36: Tiberian period

2. Glass:

- Bottle, Isings Form 14: 1st half of first century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 164.94.94
- Jar, 164.94.95

2. Closed form:

- Flagon 163.94.96

The datable grave-goods suggest a date for the group in Tiberian times. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 20-70.

Grave 14: inhumation - c. AD 20-70, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 4.2/36: Tiberian period

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Closed forms:

- Flagon, 164.94.102

The only datable grave-good belongs in Tiberian times. The suggested date of the grave is c. AD 20-70.

Grave 15: inhumation - c. AD 71-120, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 46: Flavian to first half of 2nd century AD
- Cup, Conspectus Form 4.2/36: Tiberian period

2. Glass:

- Beaker, Isings Form 33: second half of 1st century AD
- Bottle, Isings Form 55: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coins:

- Dupondius of Vespasian, Rome: AD 71

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar, 164.94.108

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 80-130 (Biaggio Simona 1995, 78).

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 71 (Dupondius of Vespasian). Sigillata and glass belong within Flavian times. The present writer would therefore prefer c. AD 71-120 as date of the grave.

Grave 16: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 164.94.116

Grave 17: inhumation - c. AD 175-200, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- Copper alloy coin of Hadrian, AD 117-138
- Copper alloy coin of Faustina II or Lucilla, AD 161-175
- Copper alloy coin of Faustina II, AD 175
- Copper alloy coin of Marcus Aurelius, AD 161-180

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 175 (coin of Faustina II; or AD 180?, coin of M. Aurelius). The presence of three coins within the period AD 161-180 argues for a date of deposition shortly after the later coin. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 175-200.

Grave 18: inhumation - c. AD 95/96-130, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period
- Cup, Conspectus Form 34: Late Tiberian to Flavian period frequent, rare later
- Dish, Conspectus Form 20: first half of 1st century AD

2. Glass:

- Beaker, Isings Form 33: second half of 1st century AD
- Oinochoe, Isings Form 88 b (?): 2nd century AD

3. Coins:

- As of Domitian, Rome: AD 95-96

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar, 164.94.130

- Fragments of jar, 164.94.136

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 95-96 (As of Domitian). Sigillata and glass belong to Flavian times. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 95/96-130.

Grave 19: inhumation - c. AD 157/158-200, based on the following datable items:

1. Glass:

- Beaker, Isings Form 21: second half of 1st century AD

2. Coins:

- Sestertius of Antoninus Pius, Rome: AD 157-158

- Copper alloy coin of Antoninus Pius: AD 138-161

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar, 164.94.137

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 157-158 (Sestertius of Antoninus Pius). The presence of another coin dated AD 138-161 allows one to suggest as date c. AD 157/158-200.

Grave 20: inhumation - c. AD 30-80, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 4.2/36: Tiberian period
- Dish, Conspectus Form 20: 1st half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

b.1. Open form:

- Fragments of jar, 164.94.204

The datable grave-goods belong in Tiberian times. The suggested date of the grave is c. AD 30-80.

Grave 21: inhumation - c. AD 160-210, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 34: Late Tiberian to Flavian period frequent, rare later

2. Glass:

- Beaker, Isings Form 96: 3rd century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Cup, 164.94.148
- Jar, 164.94.149

The latest datable material belongs in the 3rd century AD. The other datable grave-good occurs from Tiberian to Flavian times. There is a relevant chronological gap between the two items, but no mention of being intrusive.

The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 160-210.

Grave 22: inhumation - c. AD 138-150, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 4.2/36: Tiberian period

2. Coins:

- Copper alloy coin of Domitian: AD 81-96
- As of Antoninus Pius, Rome: AD 138

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 164.94.156
- Jar, 164.94.155

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 138 (As of Antoninus Pius). The sigillata cup belongs to Tiberian times and the presence of a coin of Domitian (AD 81-96) allows one to suggest as date for the group c. AD 81-130. The presence of a later coin argues for a date of deposition shortly after the terminus post quem, c. AD 138-150.

Grave 23: inhumation - c. AD 117-150, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 34: Late Tiberian to Flavian period frequent, rare later

2. Glass:

- Balsamarium, Isings Form 68: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coins:

- Copper alloy coin of Vespasian or Titus, AD 69-81
- Copper alloy coin of Vespasian or Titus, AD 69-81
- Copper alloy coin of Domitian, AD 81-96
- Copper alloy coin of Domitian (?), AD 81-96
- Copper alloy coin of Hadrian, AD 117-138
- Copper alloy coin of Hadrian, AD 117-138
- Copper alloy coin of Hadrian (?), AD 117-138

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Cup, 164.94.166
- Jar, 164.94.167
- Bowl, 164.94.168

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 117-138 (coins of Hadrian). The other datable grave-goods are earlier. The presence of seven coins within the period AD 69-138 argues for a date of deposition shortly after the later coins. The suggested date is therefore c. AD 117-150.

Grave 24: inhumation - c. AD 50-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 4.2/36: Tiberian period

2. Glass:

- Beaker, Isings Form 21: second half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 164.94.182

Sigillata and glass belong within c. AD 40-100. The suggested date of the grave is c. AD 50-100.

Grave 25: inhumation - c. AD 81-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- Denarius of Vespasian, Rome: AD 74
- Copper alloy coin of Domitian, AD 81-96
- Copper alloy coin of Domitian, AD 81-96

3. Brooch:

- Brooch, Ettlinger 1973, Type 42.1: AD 30-50

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

b.1. Open forms:

- Beaker, 164.94.187
- Jar, 164.94.186

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 81-96 (coins of Domitian). The presence of three coins within AD74-96 argues for a date of deposition shortly after the later coins. The suggested date is therefore c. AD 81-100.

Grave 26: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

- Fragments of jar and flagon, 164.94.195

Grave 27: inhumation, only the northern half has been excavated - c. AD 81-130, based on the following datable items:

1. Coin:

- Copper alloy coin of Domitian: AD 81-96

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

The only datable grave-good is a coin of Domitian (AD 81-96). The grave, however, has been only partly excavated. The suggested date is c. AD 81-130.

Grave 28: inhumation, only the northern half has been excavated

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

Grave 29: inhumation - c. AD 70-120, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (2), Conspectus Form 43: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 164.94.208

2. Closed forms:

- Flagon 164.94.209

The only datable grave-good belongs to the second half of 1st and the first half of the 2nd c. AD. A possible date for the grave is from Flavian times, c. AD 70-120.

Grave 30: inhumation - c. AD 98-130, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 8: Augustan period
- Cup, Conspectus Form 34: Late Tiberian to Flavian period frequent, rare later
- Cup, Conspectus Form 49: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

2. Glass:

- Dish, Isings Form 45 (?): second half of 1st century AD

3. Coin:

- As of Trajan, Rome: AD 98-100

Coarse/thin walled pottery

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 164.94.214

2. Closed forms:

- Flagon, 164.94.215

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 98-100 (As of Trajan). The other datable grave-goods suggest a date for the group in c. AD 50-100. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 98-130.

Grave 31: inhumation - c. AD 80-130, based on the following datable items:

1. Glass:

- Cup, Isings Form 3: first half of 1st century AD
- Balsamarium, Isings Form 28b: second half of 1st century AD
- Beaker, Isings Form 33: second half of 1st century AD

2. Coin:

- Sestertius of Titus, Rome: AD 80

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 164.94.223
- Fragments, 164.94.224

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 80 (Sestertius of Titus). The suggested date of the grave is c. AD 80-130.

Grave 32: inhumation - c. AD 50-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 8: Augustan period
- Cup, Conspectus Form 43: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd

century AD

- Dish, Conspectus Form 39: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd

century AD

- Fragments

2. Glass:

- Cup, similar to Conspectus Form 43: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd

century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 164.94.235
- Beaker, 164.94.236

2. Closed forms:

- Flagon, 164.94.237
- Flagon, 164.94.238

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 80-130 (Biaggio Simona 1995, 82).

Sigillata and glass allow one to suggest a date for the group within c. AD 50-100. The present writer agrees therefore with the same period as in the literature.

Grave 33: inhumation - c. AD 90/91-140, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 43: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

2. Glass:

- Fragments

3. Coin:

- As of Domitian, Rome: AD 90-91

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 164.94.244
- Fragments, 164.94.272

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 90-91 (As of Domitian). The suggested date of the grave is c. AD 90/91-140.

Grave 34: inhumation - c. AD 71-120, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 34: Late Tiberian to Flavian period frequent, rare later
- Dish, Conspectus Form 39: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD

2. Glass:

- Beaker , Isings Form 33: second half of 1st century AD

- Bottle, Isings Form 50b: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coins:

- As of Vespasian, Rome: AD 71

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar, 164.94.266
- Fragments, 164.94.274

The suggested date for the grave in the literature is AD 80-120 (Biaggio Simona 1995, 86).

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 71 (As of Vespasian). Sigillata and glass suggest a date for the group from Flavian times. The present writer would therefore prefer c. AD 71-120 as date of the grave.

Grave 35: inhumation - c. AD 30-80, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 20: first half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

b.1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup, 164.94.277
- Thin walled beaker, 164.94.278

2. Closed forms:

- Flagon, 164.94.279

The only datable grave-good belongs in the first half of the 1st century AD.

The suggested date of the grave is c. AD 30-80.

Grave 36: inhumation - c. AD 34-80, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period

2. Glass:

- Dish, Isings Form 46: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coins:

- Quinarius of Augustus, Rome: 28-26 BC
- As of Tiberius, Rome: AD 34-36

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Thin walled cup, 164.94.280
- Jar, 164.94.281

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 164.94.282

Sigillata and glass suggest a date of the group within c. 50-100. The As of Tiberius (AD 34-36) may be a terminus post quem for the grave. The suggested date is therefore c. AD 34-80.

Grave 37: inhumation - c. AD 30-80, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 4.2/36: Tiberian period, rare until end of 1st century AD

2. Coins:

- Copper alloy coin: ?

3. Brooch:

- Aucissa-brooch, Ettlinger 1977, Type 29: 25 BC- AD 50

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Thin walled cup, 164.94.292

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 164.94.293

The sigillata cup and the brooch suggest a date for the group within c. AD 30-50. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 30-80.

Grave 38: inhumation - c. AD 40-90, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 3.1.1 : before mid-1st to second half of 1st century AD

2. Brooch:

- Long-spiral brooch , Ettlinger 1977, Type 6 (Armbrustfibel): late La Tène to AD 50

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Thin walled cup, 164.94.300

2. Closed form:

- Flagon, 164.94.301

The sigillata cup and the brooch suggest a date for the group within c. AD 40-90. The suggested date of the grave is the same period.

Grave 39: not excavated yet

Grave 40: inhumation - c. AD 117-150, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- Sestertius of Hadrian, Rome: AD 119-122
- As of Hadrian, Rome: AD 119-122

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar, 164.95.305

There is given a terminus post quem at AD 119-122 (coins of Hadrian). The coins, and other grave-goods, were contained in the jar. The suggested date of the grave is within the period c. AD 117-150.

Tenero

Balli's excavation 1880-1881

Grave 1: inhumation - c. AD 30-80, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish

2. Glass:

- Balsamaria (2), Isings Form 6: first half of 1st century AD
- Balsamaria (5), Isings Form 28: second half of 1st century AD
- Glass paste

3. Brooches:

- Fragments

4. Coins:

- Copper alloy coin: early 1st century AD

- Denarius of Lucius Piso Frugi, Rome: 90 BC

Coarse/thin walled pottery: none.

The probable date for glass in this Grave is c. AD 30-80. The Denarius of Lucius Piso Frugi (90 BC) seems to be too early in comparison to the glass to constitute a terminus post quem. The suggested date of the grave is therefore c. AD 30-80.

Grave 2: inhumation - c. AD 22/23-70, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 34: Late Tiberian to Flavian period
- Dishes (3), Conspectus Form 21: mid-1st century AD

2. Glass:

- Balsamarium, Isings Form 10: first half of 1st century AD

- Thin walled beaker
- Beaker (Silvestrini 1940, pl. VI, 11)

2. Closed form:

- Flagon (Silvestrini 1940, pl. IV, 8)

The grave-goods suggest c. AD 30-80 as date of the group. The As of Tiberius for Drusus (AD 22-23) may be a terminus post quem for the Grave. The Grave, however, contained also another coin, that could be later. According to the other datable grave-goods, and considering the possibility of a later coin, the suggested date of the Grave is therefore c. AD 22/23-70.

- Cup (Silvestrini 1940, pl. V, 22)

- Jar (Silvestrini 1940, pl. V, 1)
- Fragments

Sigillata and glass suggest c. AD 30-80 as date for the group. The suggested date of the Grave is therefore the same period.

Grave 6: inhumation - c. AD 30-80, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 34: late Tiberian to Flavian period
- Dish, Conspectus Form 20: mid-1st century AD
- Dish, Conspectus Form 21: mid-first century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Thin walled cup, fragment

2. Closed form:

- Flagon

The sigillata suggests a date for the group to c. AD 30-80. The suggested date of the Grave is within the same period.

Grave 7: inhumation - c. AD 40-90, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period
- Cup, Conspectus Form 34: Late Tiberian to Flavian period

2. Glass:

- Dishes (2), Isings Form 19: second half of 1st century AD

- Flagon (Silvestrini 1940, pl. IV, 9)
- Flagon (Silvestrini 1940, pl. IV, 12)

The datable grave-goods suggest c. AD 40-90 as date for the Grave.

Graves 8/9: inhumation - c. AD 50-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

1. Coin:

- Copper alloy coin: early 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar, 1931.194

The only datable element suggests c. AD 10-50 as date of the Grave.

Grave 12: inhumation - c. AD 40-80, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period

- Cup: ?

Grave 14: inhumation - c. AD 30-70, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 27: Tiberian to Neronian period

- Cups (2), Conspectus Form 36: Tiberian period

- Dish, Conspectus Form 20 (?): mid-1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Closed form:

- Flagon

The sigillata suggests c. AD 30-70 as date for the group. The suggested date of the Grave is therefore the same period.

Grave 15: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Cup

1. Open forms:

- Thin walled cup (Faltenbecher)

- Thin walled beaker (dotted beaker)

2. Closed form:

- Flagon (Silvestrini 1940, pl. IV, 16)

The sigillata suggests c. AD 50-100 as date for the group. The suggested date of the Grave is therefore the same period.

Grave 17: inhumation - c. AD 50-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup: ?
- Cup, Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period

2. Glass:

- Dish, Isings Form 46: second half of 1st century AD

- Balsamarium, Isings Form 28: second half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Beaker (Silvestrini 1940, pl. VI, 30)

Sigillata and glass suggest c. AD 50-100 as date for the group. The suggested date of the Grave is therefore the same period.

Grave 19 : inhumation - c. AD 92-150, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 39 (?): second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD
- Dish, Conspectus Form 40: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD
- Dish: ?

2. Glass:

- Bird, Isings Form 11: first half of 1st century AD
- Balsamarium, Isings Form 28: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coins:

- As of Augustus, Rome: AD 14
- As of Augustus (?): 37 BC-AD 14
- As of Domitian, Rome: AD 92

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Thin walled cup

2. Closed form:

- Flagon

Sigillata and glass belong to c. AD 50-150. The coin of Domitian may be considered as a terminus post quem for the Grave. The suggested date is therefore c. AD 92-150.

Grave 20: inhumation - c. AD 50-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 20: mid-1st century AD

2. Glass:

- Balsamarium, Isings Form 28: second half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Closed form:

- Flagon

The datable grave-goods belong to c. AD 50-100. The suggested date of the Grave is therefore the same period.

Grave 21: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar (Silvestrini 1940, pl. V, 3)

2. Closed form:

- Flagon (Silvestrini 1940, pl. IV, 13)

Grave 22 : inhumation - c. AD 15-65, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 20: mid-1st century AD

2. Brooch:

- Aucissa- brooch, Ettlinger Type 29: 25 BC to AD 50

3. Coins:

- As of Tiberius for Augustus, Rome: AD 14-15
- Copper alloy coin: 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Two-handled jar, fragments

2. Closed form:

- Flagon (Silvestrini 1940, pl. IV, 15)

The datable grave-goods belong to c. AD 15-50. The suggested date of the Grave is therefore the same period or slightly later.

Grave 23: inhumation - c. AD 40-90, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 4.2/36 (?): Tiberian period

2. Glass:

- Balsamarium, Isings Form 10: first half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

- Fragments

The datable grave-goods belong to the period c. AD 40-50. The likely date of the Grave is therefore c. AD 40-90.

Grave 24: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:
 - Jar (Silvestrini 1940, pl. V, 4)
 - Two-handled jar (similar to Silvestrini 1940, pl. V, 4)

Grave 25: inhumation

Datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:
 - Fragments of three vessels
2. Glass:
 - Flagon, Isings Form 14: first half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:
 - Jar (Silvestrini 1940, pl. V, 5)
 - Fragments

The only datable grave-good indicates c. AD 0-50. It is impossible to suggest a closer date for the Grave.

Grave 26 : inhumation- c. AD 50-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Form ?

2. Glass:

- Balsamarium, Isings Form 6: first half of 1st century AD
- Rod, Isings Form 79: second half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar
- Jar, fragments

2. Closed form:

- Flagon

The datable grave-goods suggest c. AD 50-100 as date for the group. A possible date of the Grave is therefore the same period.

Grave 27: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Closed form:

- Flagon

- Fragments

The only datable grave-good is a coin of Trajan. A possible date of the Grave is therefore c. AD 117-150.

Grave 85: inhumation - c. AD 50-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (2), Conspectus Form 43: second half of 1st to first half of 2nd century AD
- Dish, Conspectus Form 4.2/36: Tiberian period

2. Glass:

- Jug, Isings Form 54: second half of 1st century AD

3. Clay Figure:

- Clay figure of woman and child

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Cup

2. Closed form:

The datable grave-goods suggest a date for the Grave within c. AD 50-100.

Grave 86: inhumation - c. AD 68-100, based on the following datable items:

1. Glass:

- Bottle, similar to Isings Form 50: second half of 1st century AD

2. Coin:

- Copper alloy coin of Nero: AD 54-68

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Cup

The datable grave-goods suggest c. AD 68-100 as date for the Grave.

Grave 87: inhumation - c. AD 40-90, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dish, Conspectus Form 4.2/36 (?): Tiberian period

2. Glass:

- Balsamarium, Isings Form 28: second half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

- Fragments

The datable grave-goods suggest c. AD 40-90 as date for the Grave.

Grave 88: inhumation- c. AD 71-130, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cup, Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period

2. Glass:

- Balsamaria (2), Isings Form 28: second half of 1st century AD

- Bottle, Isings Form 50: second half of 1st century AD

- Bottle, Isings Form 51: second half of 1st century AD

- Bottle, Isings Form 55: second half of 1st century AD

3. Coins:

- Copper alloy coin of Vespasian: AD 71

- Copper alloy coin of Commodus (?): AD 180-192

Most of the datable grave-goods belong to c. AD 50-100. The coins of Vespasian suggest c. AD 71-130 as date of the group. The coin of Commodus is uncertain ; moreover it could be intrusive. The suggested date for the Grave is therefore c. AD 71-130.

Grave 89: inhumation

Datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Dishes (2), Form ?

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Thin walled beaker (Silvestrini 1940, pl. V, 11)

2. Closed form:

- Flagon

Grave 90: inhumation - c. AD 71-130, based on the following datable items:

1. Italian Sigillata:

- Cups (2), Conspectus Form 29: Tiberian to Flavian period
- Dish, Form ?

2. Glass:

- Flagon, Isings Form 14: first half of 1st century AD
- Beaker, similar to Isings Form 34: second half of 1st century AD
- Bottle, similar to Isings Form 50: second half of 1st century AD
- Dish, Form ?

3. Coins:

- Copper alloy coin of Vespasian: AD 71
- Copper alloy coin: 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open forms:

- Jar (Silvestrini 1940, pl. V, 2)
- Jar (Silvestrini 1940, pl. V, 10)

The datable grave-goods and the coin of Vespasian suggest c. AD 71-130 as date of the Grave.

Grave 91: inhumation

Datable items:

1. Glass:

- Bottle, Isings Form 50: second half of 1st century AD

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Beaker

2. Closed form:

- Flagon

The only datable grave-goods belongs to c. AD 50-100. There is not enough evidence to suggest a closer date for the Grave.

Excavation near the post office (UBC 1970)

Grave 3: cremation

Datable items: none (fragments of glass)

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

- Fragment of rim (?), 236.70.162
- Jar (?), 236.70.163

Grave 4: inhumation - c. AD 139-190, based on the following datable items:

1. Coins:

- Asses (2) of Hadrian (?): AD 117-138

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar, 236.70.102

The only datable grave-goods are the two coins of Hadrian. A possible date of the Grave is therefore c. AD 138-190.

Grave 7: inhumation

Datable items: none.

Coarse/thin walled pottery:

1. Open form:

- Jar, 236.70.110a
- Jar, 236.70.110b

Column Periods - Forms displays the periods in which the graves are dated. The forms are not given with indication of quantity, but only of occurrence. For indication of quantity in each cemetery and grave, but not of chronology, see Appendix V. For both quantity of forms and chronology in each grave, see Appendix III. Almost all forms occur in the graves dating from the 1st and the 2nd centuries AD. The association of a flagon and a cup and/or a beaker are common. During the 1st and the first half of the 2nd century AD thin walled or Sigillata vessels usually replace coarse cups and dishes in the contexts. This feature is common in all areas of northern Italy during the first Imperial period (Cagnana 1994, 133 ; Guglielmetti et al. 1991, 137). From the end of the 2nd and during the first half of the 3rd century AD, the beakers disappear. Dishes, Bowls and jars outnumber the other forms. The flagons occur until the first half of the 3rd century AD, the cups until the second half of the same century. The details are shown in Appendix VII.

Columns Number of graves and Quantity of vessels show the number of graves containing 1 to 4 thin walled or coarse vessels for each period. The few exception containing more than 4 vessels are indicated with the name of the cemetery. The numbers in bold indicate the maximum values for each period. Column Total graves shows the total of dated graves containing thin walled and coarse vessels for each period (in bold), followed by the total including dated graves without thin walled or coarse pottery (in brackets). Except for the periods AD 0-30, AD 300-350 and AD 350-400, most of dated graves contained thin walled and coarse pottery.

The following tables display the details for each cemetery and their summary.
